DAVID LIPSCOMB COLLEGE BACKLOG

Nashville,Tennessee

Dedicated, with love and gratitude, to
Dr. Carl McKelvey,
Vice President For Campus Affairs, for his meritorious service to David Lipscomb College and for his support of the BACKLOG.

The Backlog is published yearly by David Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tennessee, 37203-6001. David Lipscomb College is a private Christian college open to any qualified student without regard to race, religion, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, or physical handicap. In a manner consistent with all applicable laws and regulations, it does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, or physical handicap in the administration of its educational policies, programs, and activities, including its admission policies, scholarship and loan programs, employment practices and athletic and other school administered programs, except where necessitated by specific religious tenets held by the institution.

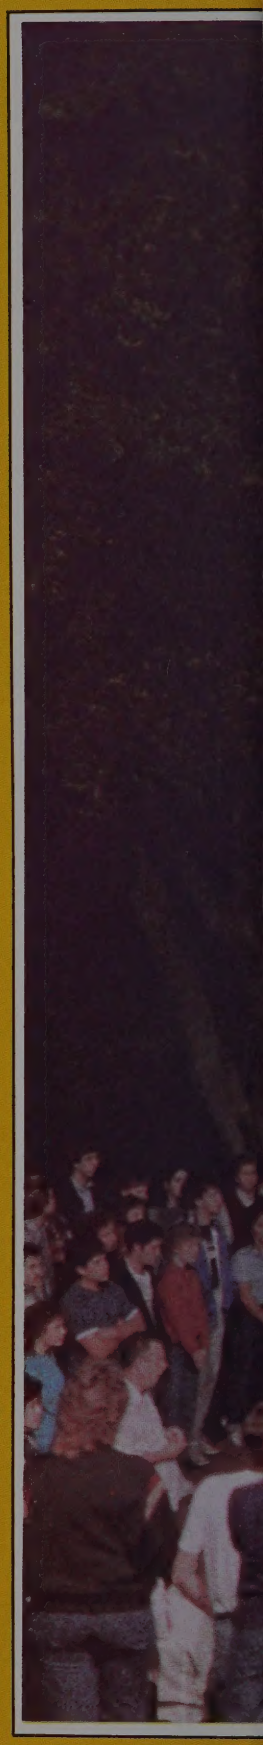
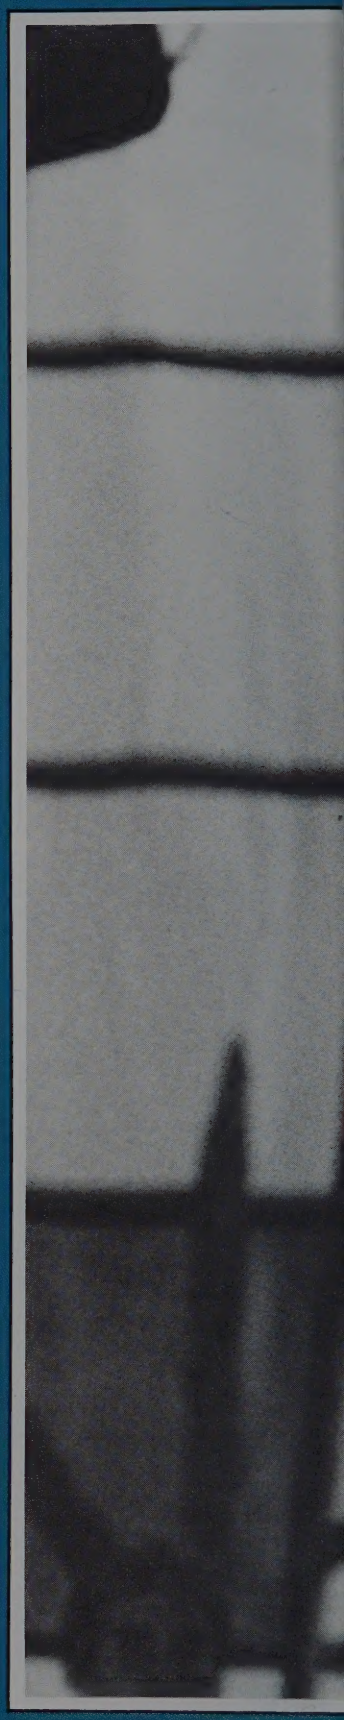
Make Your Own Music

The harmony of human voices, the notes of a musical instrument, the hum of a computer, the ringing of laughter . . . music seems to always be present in the air.





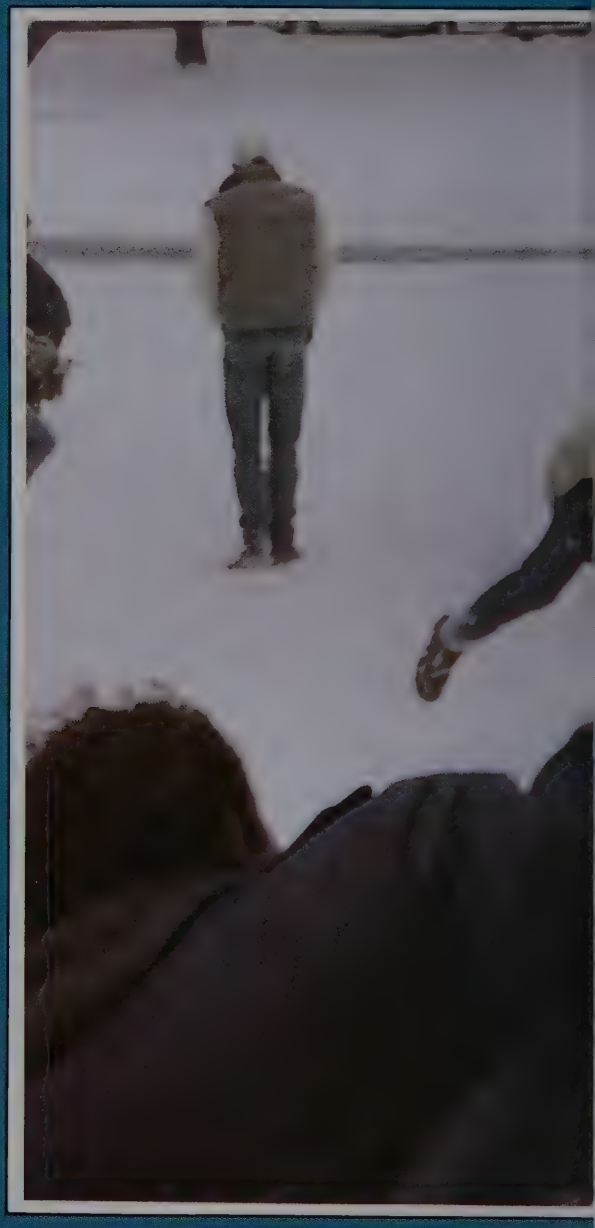
Sing Your Own Song

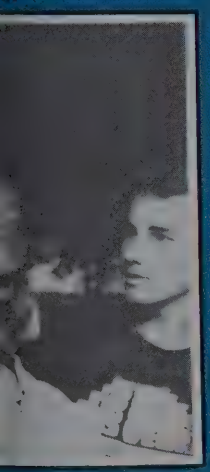
If one stops to think, every aspect of life involves music in some way. Not necessarily chords and notes, but a rhythm and theme of individualism that is performed each day, lyrics of life that make the world stop, listen . . . and applaud.

And Soon The Whole World

Real glory comes, however, when the applause ceases, and one can hear all the voices of the world blending with his.

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."
Matthew 5:16





Will Be Singing Along

He
then knows his song
is a success.
He has done what he as an individual thinks is best . . .
and the whole world is following his lead.

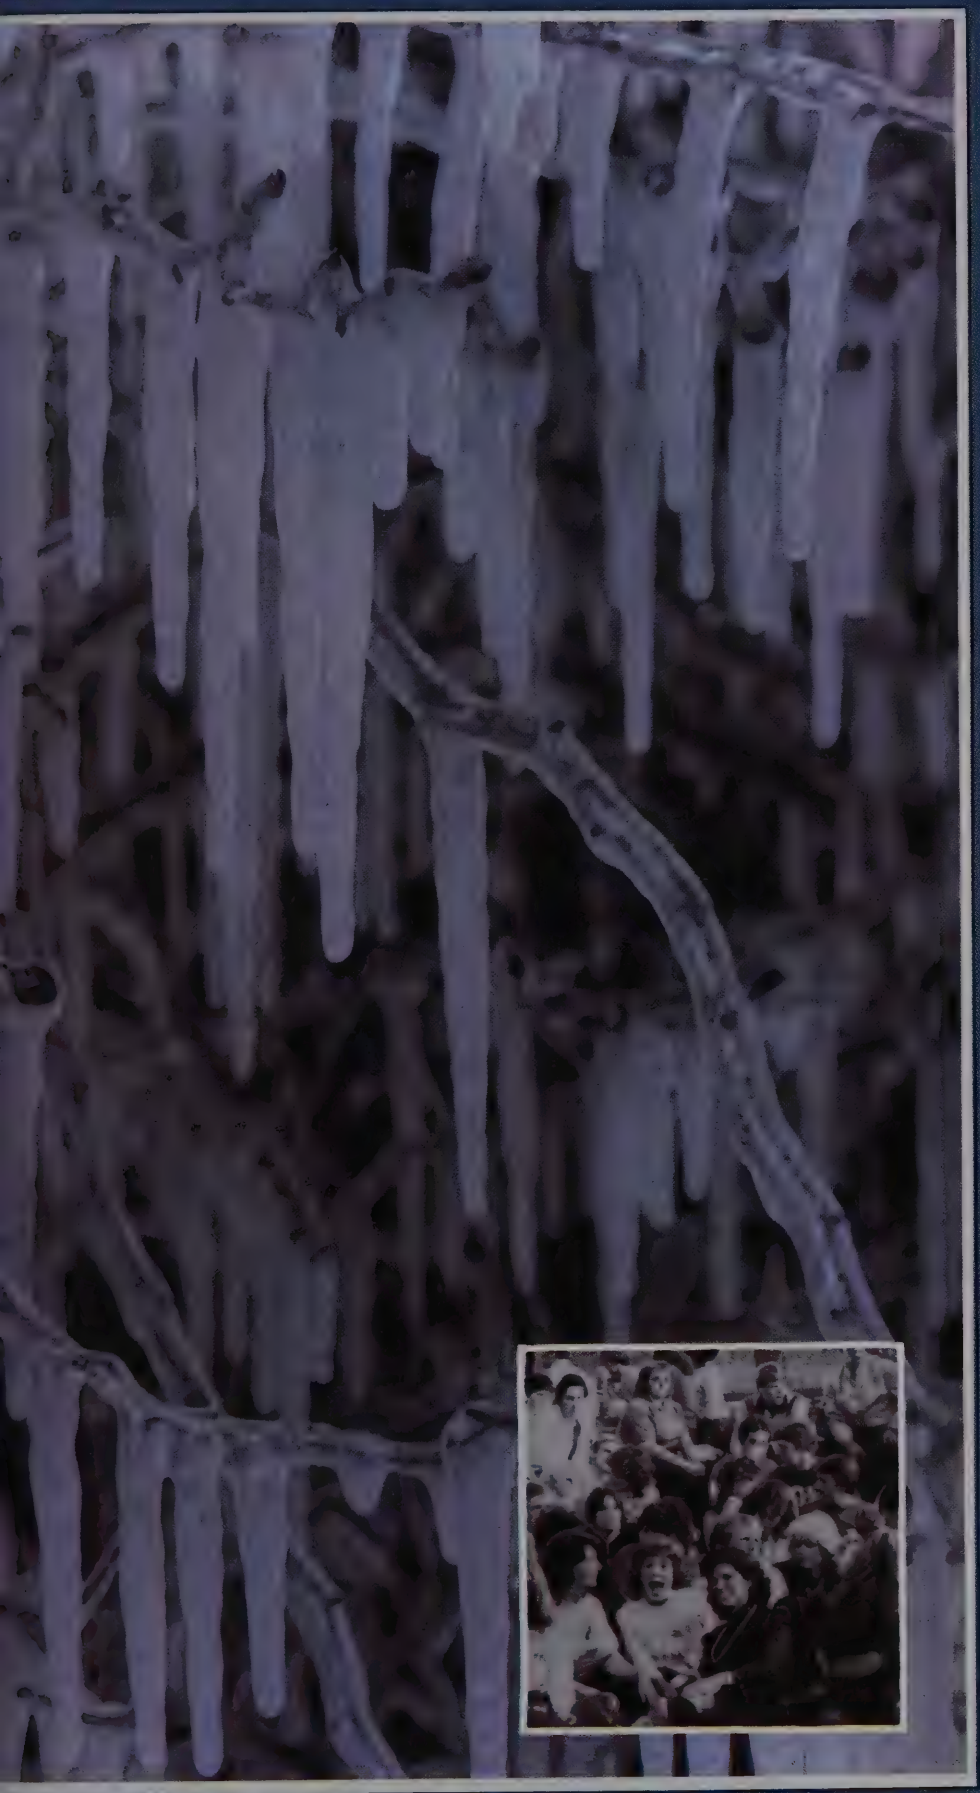
Honors

To create an effect in music, the theme sometimes reaches crescendos, building in volume and intensity to the high point of the piece, standing out, just as the brilliant colors of the flowers of spring stand out against the cool muted tones of winter.



In the college community, students may earn honors that are the high points of the year. These are the people whose personalities, activities, and work have built during their seasons here to a level deemed worthy of recognition by their peers. Though all are unique, some seem to blossom in the college atmosphere.

MISS LIPSCOMB AND THE BACHELOR OF UGLINESS

Nina Pedigo
and
Max Caudill

Nina Pedigo and Max Caudill were chosen Miss Lipscomb and Bachelor of Ugliness for 1984. The two seniors were elected by the student body to represent Lipscomb's ideal young lady and young man.

Miss Pedigo, an elementary education major from Hendersonville, Tennessee, was active in Pi Delta social club and was a member of the Student Tennessee Education Association. She served as co-captain of the Lady Bisons basketball team, was a homecoming attendant and received honorable mention as a Volunteer State Athletic Conference player of the week.

Mr. Caudill, a biochemistry major from Dickson, Tennessee, was president of Alpha Chi and was active in Mu Epsilon Delta as vice-president and treasurer. He played on the baseball team and served on the ASA academic committee and the orientation committee. He was a resident assistant in High Rise and was a homecoming escort. As a freshman, he received the David Neil Memorial Scholarship.

HONOR GRADUATES

August '83-June '84

These exceptional students worked diligently during their years at Lipscomb, excelling not only in their major fields of study, but in required subjects and electives as well.

The valedictorians and salutatorians earned these titles by achieving the highest grade-point averages in their graduating classes. The Goodpasture Bible Award was received by the graduating Bible majors with the highest grade-point averages.

These people are to be congratulated for their outstanding scholarship.

As an additional note of interest, December graduates Judith Holmes and Jenny McDonald were roommates, which proves that competition doesn't hurt friendship.

Women's Oratorical

The Women's Oratorical Contest under the direction of Dr. Ken Schott was held March 27. The speech was to be of a persuasive nature and to deal with an inspirational theme from a Christian perspective. Out of the eight contestants who entered the contest, Benay Waite took first place with her speech entitled "Overcoming Inferiority." She received $200 and a gold medal. Second place went to Nancy McDoniel who received $100 and a silver medal. Karen Knowles received third place. Funds for the awards were supplied by a trust organized by Dr. Gustus Dunn, Jr. of Rising Star, Texas.

Nancy McDoniel, second; Karen Knowles, third; Benay Waite, first.

Founder's Day

The Founder's Day Oratorical Contest, sponsored by the Department of Speech Communication and directed by Dr. Paul Prill, was held on February 17. Due to the increased interest in the contest this year, two preliminary rounds were held to decide six finalists from ten original participants. From these finalists winners were: Kirk Brothers, who received $200 and a gold medal for his winning speech entitled "Who Will Save The Children?", Daniel Clayton, who received second place, $100, and a silver medal, and Tim Shoulders, who received third place. The funds are awarded by the development office from a trust fund organized by Dr. Gustus Dunn, Jr. of Rising Star, Texas.

Daniel Clayton, second; Kirk Brothers, first; Tim Shoulders, third.

Champs

Jon Hutson, first, and Jane Stubblefield, second; in poetry. Stephanie Rust, first, and Henry Williams, second; in short story.

Writers' Competition

Eight short stories and thirty-five poems were entered in the creative writing contest sponsored by Sigma Tau Delta and the Department of English. The director of the contest was Mark Dawson, president of the club. In the short story category, Stephanie Rust received first place for her entry entitled "Too Young To Understand." Second place went to Henry Williams for his "When The Bough Breaks The Cradle Will Fall." In the poetry category, Jonathan J. Hutson won first place with his poem "The Alarm Clock World." The winning stories and poems are printed in the Medley Section of this book; The New Tower, a publication of the club, contains these also.

Songleaders' Contest

The Songleaders' Contest has been an annual event at David Lipscomb College since 1944. The event is held in honor of James A. Harding, co-founder of David Lipscomb College, each year around his birthdate. The winner was presented with a medal by Miss Irma Lee Batey, the former chairman of the Department of Music at David Lipscomb College, at the Sing Praise singing, April 13. This year's first round of competition was held on April 11, during which the talented field was narrowed to the five finalists pictured at left. On the morning of April 13, the final round was held during the high school's chapel, and Mark Hayes was the winner, followed by Daniel Clayton and Kevin Montgomery.

WHO'S WHO

Who's Who is a highly esteemed honor that few attain. To be nominated, students should exhibit scholarship ability, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship and service to the school, and potential for future achievement. Students are nominated by department chairmen and members of the faculty. Then final selections are made by a committee of administrators, faculty, and students. The final honorees pictured here are to be congratulated on being selected. All students who are recommended are paid a great compliment by those who have nominated them.

Events

Nearly every event here is composed primarily of music whether in the form of chants and cheers, rock and country, or simply the music of the applause of an appreciative audience.

David Lipscomb College is blessed with an abundance of talent; everyone who viewed these outstanding performances can agree. These events gave hundreds of young people the opportunity to use those God-given talents in an appealing, entertaining fashion, and they did so in a manner that is a credit to all of us.

Bison Day '83

Where could one find coneheads, Egyptians, Mr. Potato Heads, bottles of Orange Crush, and an entire band of drummers? Nowhere in the world except Lipscomb's campus on Bison Day. The day began with a pep rally at which the clubs that participated presented President Collins with gifts ranging from a mask of himself to a slightly more elaborate potato head. After the pep rally, everyone gathered in Bison Square to hear the clubs bellow their original cheers for a Bison victory. The clubs were then judged according to costume, theme, and originality. Pi Delta and Alpha Tau came out on top with their themes, "Deal Us A Victory" and "Bisons Are Too Hot To Handle," respectively.

Later on that evening, the faculty, alumni, and students were involved in a game to get the crowd ready for the evening's main activity—the opening of the Lady Bisons' and the Bisons' basketball seasons. The teams showed that they truly were "too hot to handle" with victories that evening. The Bisons defeated Covenant College 82 to 65, the perfect conclusion to the day's activities.

FIFTH ANNUAL

TAU PHI AND FRIENDS

COWBOY SHOW

The annual Tau Phi Cowboy and Friends Show was a real success. Several Lipscomb students, as well as many visitors, came decked out in their cowboy hats, flannel shirts, blue jeans, and boots to spend an evening listening to some good music.

Beri Fraley presided as host. Besides the members of Tau Phi, several others helped in the show including Karen Jackson, Angie Loflin, Terri Sweeney, Leigh Dugger, Nancy Starling, Beth Fraley, Benay Waite, Laura Dillon, and Jenny Lenz. The backup band for the singers was made up of Gary Williams, Jeff Flatt, Mark Fulford, Paul Gentry, Dee Williams and John Balentine. A final highlight of the evening was "Rocky Top" played by Heather Holland.

Left: Angie Laughlin and Joseph Binkley delighted their audience with their rendition of "Islands In The Stream."

"But Jesus said unto them, 'A prophet is not without honour, but in his own country, and among his own kin, and in his own house."

Mark 6:4

Family Portrait, a fictional representation of the family of Jesus, was presented in Arena Theater on November 11-12.

In its entirety, the story encompasses the last three years of Christ's life. It begins in Nazareth, where Jesus has just left upon his life's work. Christ's remaining brothers understand only that he has left them one man short during the peak building season. It continues in Capernaum, where tavern keepers and promoters have capitalized on his growing power and popularity. It returns to Nazareth and the disillusioning experience among his neighbors. Then swiftly, it journeys to Jerusalem, where the fickle crowd has turned from its cries of "Hosannah" to shouts of hatred, and to the Upper Room, where after The Last Supper, Mary awaits his return from Gethsemane. The final scene is again in Nazareth several years after the crucifixion, where Christ's family still labors under the blind and selfish delusion that they have been disgraced.

The main characters were Mary the mother of Jesus, Mary Cleophas, and Joseph played by Lori Wells, Nancy McDoniel, and Jeff Durham respectively. The production was under the direction of Mr. Henry Arnold. Mr. Arnold was aided by Jeff Durham, the student director, and an exceptional technical crew.

Shown top left is Judas telling Mary about Jesus. Shown middle left are Mary and Mary Cleophas talking with Judas just before he betrayed Jesus. Shown below left are Jesus' brothers and a Roman soldier discussing something they are going to build for him. Shown below right are Mary Magdala, Mary Cleophas, and Mary the mother of Jesus in the Upper Room discussing Jesus' teachings.

Homecoming '84 at David Lipscomb College was enjoyed by all those who participated in the festivities. Homecoming activities began Thursday, February 2, with a special chapel featuring Richard Dickerson as guest speaker. The guest speaker Friday was Neil Anderson. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday night, the musical "Carnival" was performed under the direction of Henry Arnold. Friday night, the band Exciter, featuring Brad Cooper, lead guitar; Steve Boyd, guitar; Mark Burney, drums; and Randy Bush, bass, performed in McFarland Hall. Saturday morning, numerous departmental and social club reunion coffees were held. During the special chapel service, the Alumnus of the Year was presented. A music program featuring the combined A Cappella Singers and Chorale was presented, directed by Dr. Putnam Reeves and Mr. Larry Griffith. Afterward, hymn singing was directed by Dr. James E. Jackson, featuring the combined choruses and former chorus members. The Coronation Pageant began at 1:30, and presentations of the Fessor Boyce Award, Representatives of the Decades (including Miss Lipscomb, Nina Pedigo, and Bachelor of Ugliness, Max Caudill), the Alumnus of the Year, and the President-Elect of the National Alumni Association were made. The Processional was a highlight of the afternoon as Angie Irwin was crowned Homecoming Queen. The College band, directed by Steve Rhodes, provided background music as the attendants and escorts were presented.

Oakland City College was the Homecoming opponent and the Bisons' victory was an ideal end to the Homecoming weekend.

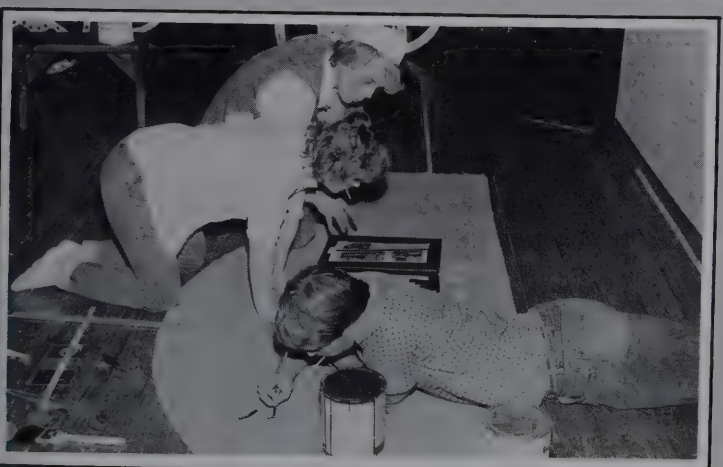
CARNIVAL

Directed by Buddy Arnold—
Choreographed by Jim Bunner

Balloons, clowns, and excited audiences filled Alumni Auditorium February 2, 3, and 4 for the production of the musical "Carnival." This was the first time that "Carnival" had been performed at Lipscomb, and the cast and crew, under the direction of Henry Arnold, did an excellent job. Because of the complexity of creating stunts and a carnival atmosphere within limited space and finding suitable talents such as those displayed in "Carnival," the play is rarely performed.

The puppets, which were based on designs made by Tom Tichenor for the original Broadway production, lent a special appeal to "Carnival" and made a lasting impression on the audience. As a special treat, refreshments including cotton candy and popcorn were sold at intermission. The lead roles were performed by Trish Jackson (Lili) and James Arquitt (Paul Berthalet). Other major characters included Jacquot (Scott Richardson), Rosalie (Janice Kilpatrick), Marco the Magnificent (Sam Wallace), and B. F. Schlegel (Scott Boring). The play was enjoyed by all ages.



PRODUCTION STAFF

Sets and lighting by Brad Valek; Costume designs by Jim Bunner; Puppets created by Carolyn Rogers; Stage Managers: Mike Rager and Carol Fickett; Musicians: Pianist—Dennis Davenport, Synthesizer—Bruce Jandrey, Drums—Dave Harbin; Costumes by Keith Hardy, Jill Vining, Anna Byrd, Carol Fickett, LaVern Wilson, Pat Valek, Jane Hardy, Pamela Potts, Brett Penn

1. Marco the magician poses with Rosalie, his assistant and lady love. 2. The clowns, serving as ushers as well as cast characters, set the mood for an enjoyable evening. 3. Rusty Roden prepares Anna Byrd for another night as a clown. 4. Jim Bunner adds just a touch of gray to Scott Boring's hair. 5. Lili discovers that Paul is the man behind Carrot Top and Horrible Henry. 7. Jim Bunner, Lyn Lowe, and Mike Rager work on last minute details for the set.

Each year, Delta Na Na Na proves to be a highlight on the campus, and this year was no different. Delta Nu and Delta Sigma combined their efforts to bring back the good old days of bobby socks and greased up heads. The show provides music from the 50's and 60's as well as skits and a Nerd Contest. Kevin Harris and Beth Claxton were selected the biggest nerds on campus. The band, consisting of Gary Williams (drums), Mike Polutta (guitar), John Magnuson (sax), Jeff Graves (guitar), Mark Fulford (bass), and John Balentine (piano), did an excellent job.

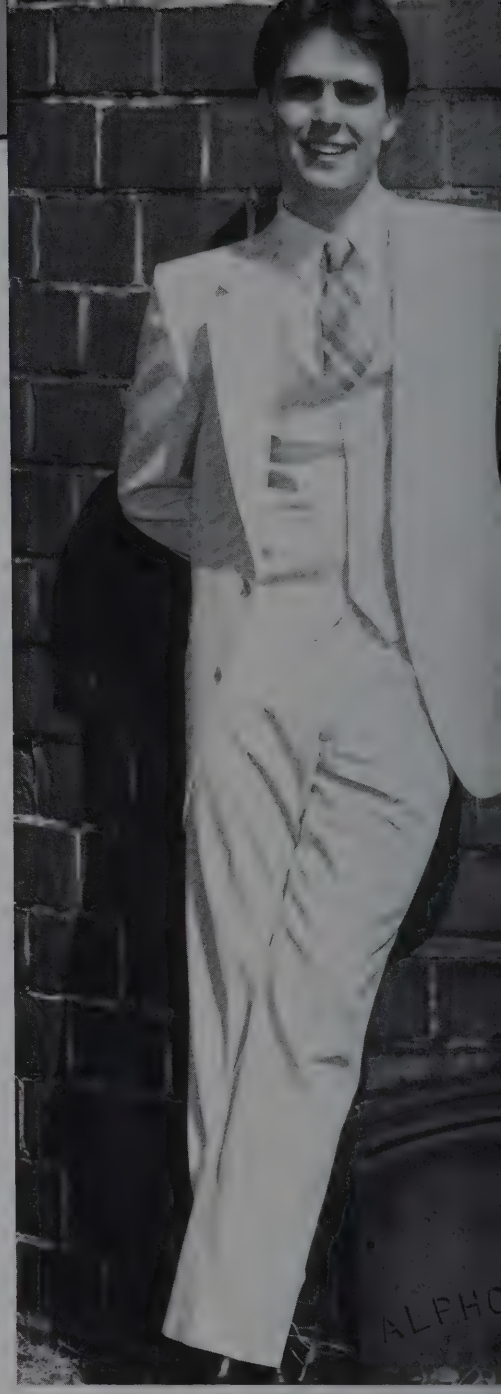
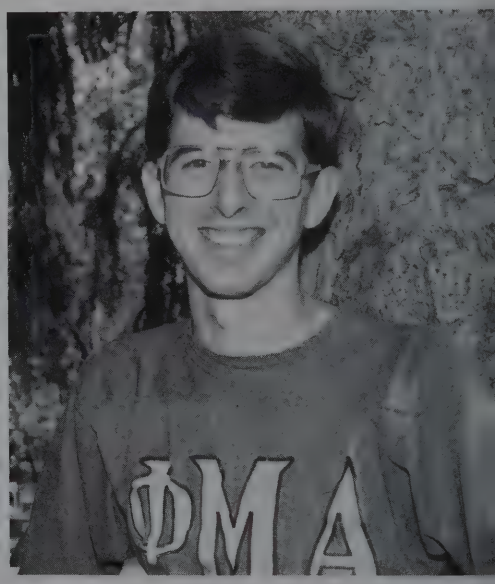
Phi Mu Alpha Talent Show

Men's Music Fraternity Reveals Tremendous Talents of Lipscomb Students

Phi Mu Alpha presented its fourth annual talent show on March 24. The director of the event was Doyle Smith. Mark Hayes, Trish Pitts, Kim Stansbury, and Greg Wilder served as hosts and hostesses. The Phi Mu Alpha band, featuring Kevin Kilpatrick, Craig Lanham, Doyle Smith, Toby Faciane, and Stephen Henry, opened and closed the show with the hit song "Footloose." The first place winners were David Fanning and Steve Travis, who performed an original song, "Julie"; second place went to David Calvin whose yodeling performance of "Chime Bells" pleasantly surprised the audience; and third place went to Karin Jackson, who sang "Sentimental Ol' You" accompanied by John Balentine. All winners received monetary awards. "Rodney and Company," featuring Rodney Britt, Mark Hawk, David Fanning, and Craig Lanham, performed "Shortnin' Bread" and received an honorable mention as a non-competitive entry in the show. Other entries included a comedy routine, contemporary gospel music, a guitar solo, several solos, duets, and bands, and an excerpt from Martin Luther King's speech "I Have a Dream."





Show Director: Doyle Smith

Left: Karin Jackson again showed her ability at singing any style of music. This time it was a charming country tune.

Alpha Psi Omega Presents: The One Acts

Something Old

The Good Doctor

In The Good Doctor, by Neil Simon, directed by Becky Roland, a writer in turn-of-the century Russia confides some of his ideas to the audience; in one, an innocent, guileless governess is trapped by her arrogant, overbearing mistress into a miserable existence. The next scene was more likable; a starry-eyed girl has waited months and months and journeyed days and days to appear before the writer, simply to read for one of his plays.

The Writer ..... Todd Eddy
The Mistress ..... Nancy McDoniel
The Governess ..... DeeDee Browning
The Girl ..... Kelly McCloy

The Sandbox

The Sandbox, by Edward Albee, directed by Barbara Howell, was a modern satire on the manner in which we tend to treat our elderly people, awaiting their death, "being brave," and "trying to reassume our usual walk of life." The Sandbox was hilarious, but at the same time, almost morbid.

The Young Man ..... Gilbert Booher
Mommy ..... Sharon Palmer
Daddy ..... Doyle Smith
Grandma ..... Ginger Johnson
Musician ..... Pam Potts

Something New

April 5, 6, and 7

Return of The Clown

The Return of the Clown, by Ernest Kinoy, directed by Sam Wallace, showed how a little girl resists dealing with the death of her father by creating an imaginary friend. Clown, as he is known, tells her stories and makes her laugh just like her father once did. Little Peggy's confidence in Clown's existence begins to cause trouble at home and school, but gradually she becomes aware of the truth and tearfully says good-bye to both her father and the clown.

Miss Erwin ..... Nan Nelson

On Golden Pond

On Golden Pond, by Ernest Thompson, directed by Rusty Roden, convincingly portrays how 80-year-old Norman and his spunky wife, Ethel, spend a summer of their lives adjusting to a teenage California boy, examining relationships with their adult daughter, and learning to accept the imminence of death.

Throughout it all they retain their New England temper and sense of humor, and together Norman and Ethel agree to really live.

Billy ..... Christopher Jennings
Ethel ..... Beth Claxton

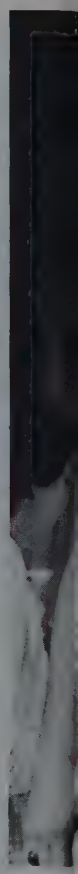
"Believe in Magic" was the theme for the 21st Annual Singarama, performed April 26-28. The four groups, composed of approximately 300 social club members and 100 independents, performed for enthusiastic audiences each evening. As always, the quality of these student productions was impressive. The hard work, long hours, and dedication resulted in four excellent mini-musicials: "Love," "Luck," "Fortune," and "Mystery."



Director
Jenny Lenz

Fortune

Fortune's group, consisting of Omega Chi, Omega Nu, Pi Delta, Psi Alpha, and Sigma Phi, told the story of Danny, a young man, amusingly played by Sam Wallace, just graduated from high school, who consulted a fortune teller for some insights into his future. With her help and that of his friends, played by Phil Ellenberg, Ben Baker, Stacey Duke, and Laura Dillon, he soon learned that the price for love, money, fame, and power was more than he was willing to pay. The highlight of the show was, of course, Ben Baker's exceptional choreography never before seen on the Singarama stage. His Michael Jackson-influenced movements wowed everyone.

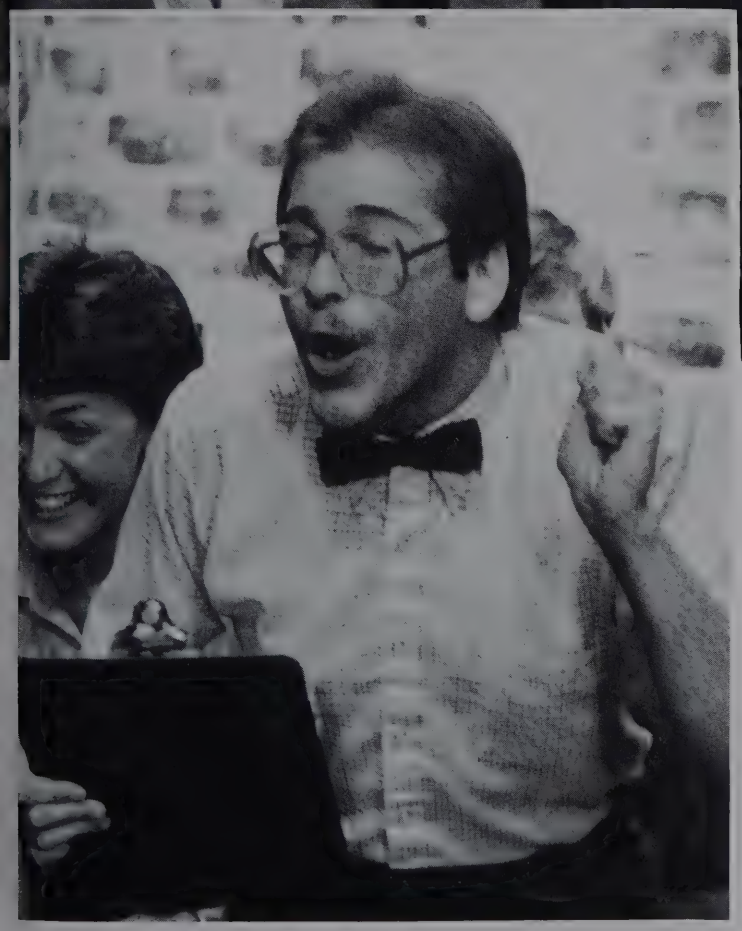
Host and Hostess

David Fanning and Anna Byrd

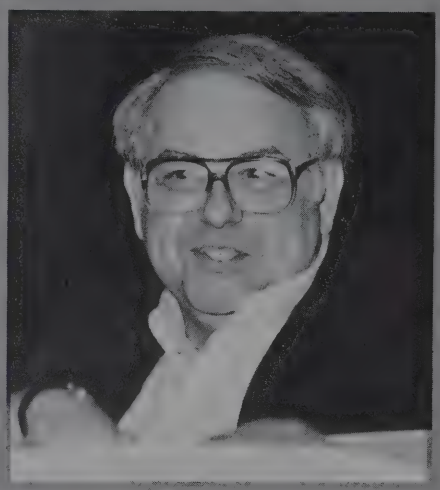
Chosen several months before Singarama from a talented field, David and Anna handled the show well. Especially impressive were the Dan Fogleberg tunes, and the harmony of David and Anna in "Almost Paradise."

Director
John Balentine

Love



Delta Sigma, Gamma Lambda, Lambda Psi, Delta Nu, and Sigma Chi Delta brought together the story of high school sweethearts who split up before college and then realize that nothing can or should keep you away from the one you love. Beth Claxton's acting ability, along with exciting staging for which they won second, and choreography gave this show its sparkle. Janice Kilpatrick's rich voice on "Flashdance—What a Feeling" added a moving touch to the finale.

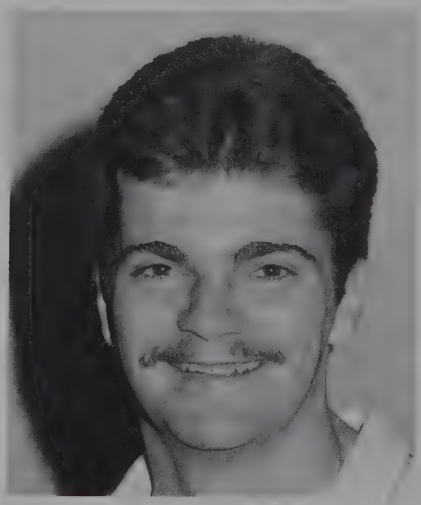


Dr. Dennis Loyd, Coordinator

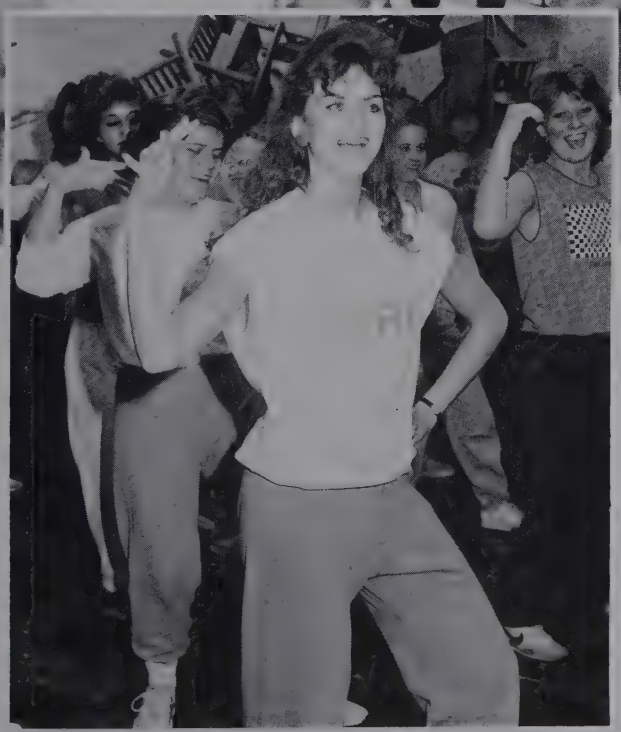
Linda Brown, Student Coordinator

These two experienced coordinators again did an impressive job of getting the whole show together. Linda held the same job in 1983, and Dr. Loyd completed his eighth and last year as coordinator.

Director
Russ Gough



Luck



Luck's group, composed of Alpha Sigma, Delta Delta, Phi Omega, Alpha Tau, and Gamma Xi, won the Sweepstakes with their comical show. Morton Fenway, aided by the Subway Genie, was allowed to relive parts of his elementary and high school years, years when he had been "lucky." But his memory had served him wrong and Morton learned to rely on himself, not luck. Luck's fantastic sounds also won the Music category and made the show outstanding; the harmony was beautiful on "The Gambler," and Karen Jackson belted out a very popular rendition of "Let's Hear It For the Boys!" The guys' "Four-Leaf Clover" routine on their stools was also a fun effect, aiding their second place in creative development.

Singarama Orchestra

The orchestra for the 1984 Singarama did an excellent job in bringing the show to life. The group was composed of ten musicians and four backup singers. Conductor Mike Polutta led the group on guitar. The orchestra was composed of Tod Bell on bass guitar, Bill Prady on drums, Julie True on electric and acoustic piano, Kevin Kilpatrick on organ and strings, John Magnuson on saxophone, Kerry Roberts and Charles Fike on trumpets, and Bruce Jacobs and Steve McLeod on trombones. The backup singers, Beth Rains, Lori Ann Meador, Curt Shamblee, and Mark Hayes, added depth to the songs performed by the host and hostess. Dr. Moore assisted the group by doing the orchestration for all the programs.

An outstanding part of the show was the saxophone solos performed by John Magnuson. Mike Polutta also did an excellent job choosing these fine musicians and conducting the group.

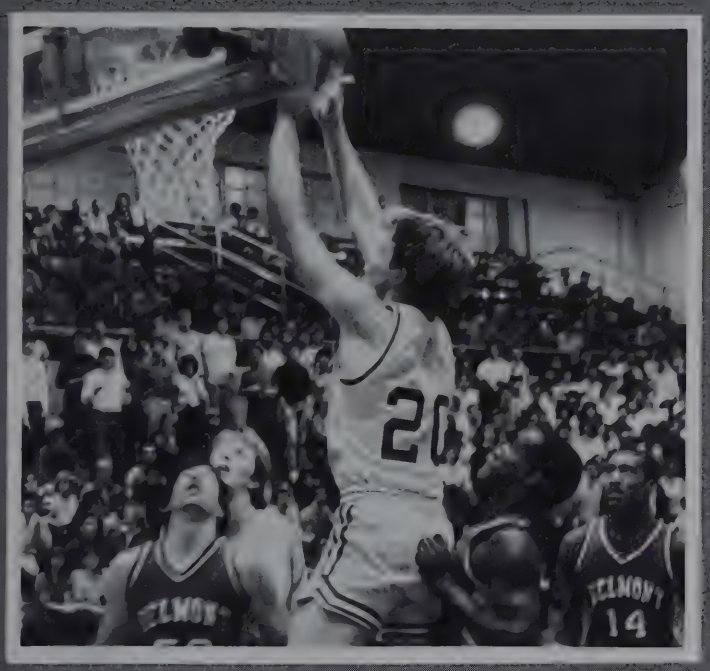
Director
Keith Hardy

Mystery

This whodunit left its audience hanging, but not before presenting a very clever and effective show that won second place in the Sweepstakes category and first for its creative development, staging, and audience appeal.

Kappa Chi, Theta Tau, Zeta Nu, Sigma Iota Delta and Tau Phi combined to form ranks of Monsters, Maids, and Crazy Cops. Joseph Binkley and Jackie Knight were excellently cast as the butler and the countess, and his version of "Monster Mash" was one of the finest and "funnest" of the evening.

Sports



Our athletes performed their own brand of music, working many unseen hours, and pushing themselves to improve so that they could play . . . and win.

And win they did. Lipscomb's teams consistently brought home news of victories and trophies and banners to show for their efforts.

Who can watch an athlete and not recognize the talent, timing, and practice that is required? Their coordination and skill are comparable to that of any musician.

Music is everywhere, even on our playing fields, courts, and tracks.

Front Row: Benton Patton, Mark Joseph, Tom Davis, John McPherson, Rey Solis, Tim Miller, Ed Solis, Deron Tippett
Second Row: Greg Starnes, Kevin Lind, Alan Malone, Brian Jones, Mickey Fenn, John Carreau, Phillip Dickens, Mark Baird, Kevin Gannon

BASEBALL

Coach Ken Dugan has compiled an impressive 776-247 record during 24 years at Lipscomb including two national championships. In accord with past performances, the Bisons succeeded in having a 28 game winning streak which tied the NAIA record.

The Bisons didn't lose a single game in April even though they played almost every day. The goal of the team was to have a 50 game winning streak. Only on two occasions has a college baseball team in Tennessee won 50 games and David Lipscomb was that college. In 1978, the record was 50-11 and in 1981, the record was 51-8.

The Bisons were undefeated in conference play with a 14-0 record and currently ranked fourth in the NAIA national ranking being only four points beind the third ranked team. Teams are ranked based on opinion, record, reputation, difficulty of schedule, and other factors with the first place vote receiving 15 points and decreasing thereafter. The total number of points that each team received determined where the team fit in the ranking.

The Bisons were fast approaching the DLC homerun record. They had 88, only 15 short of the record of 103 set in 1978. Phillip Dickens broke the single season homerun record of 18 by hitting his 19th homerun of the season on April 26. He broke the record number of career homeruns with 64 and tied the RBI record of 73.

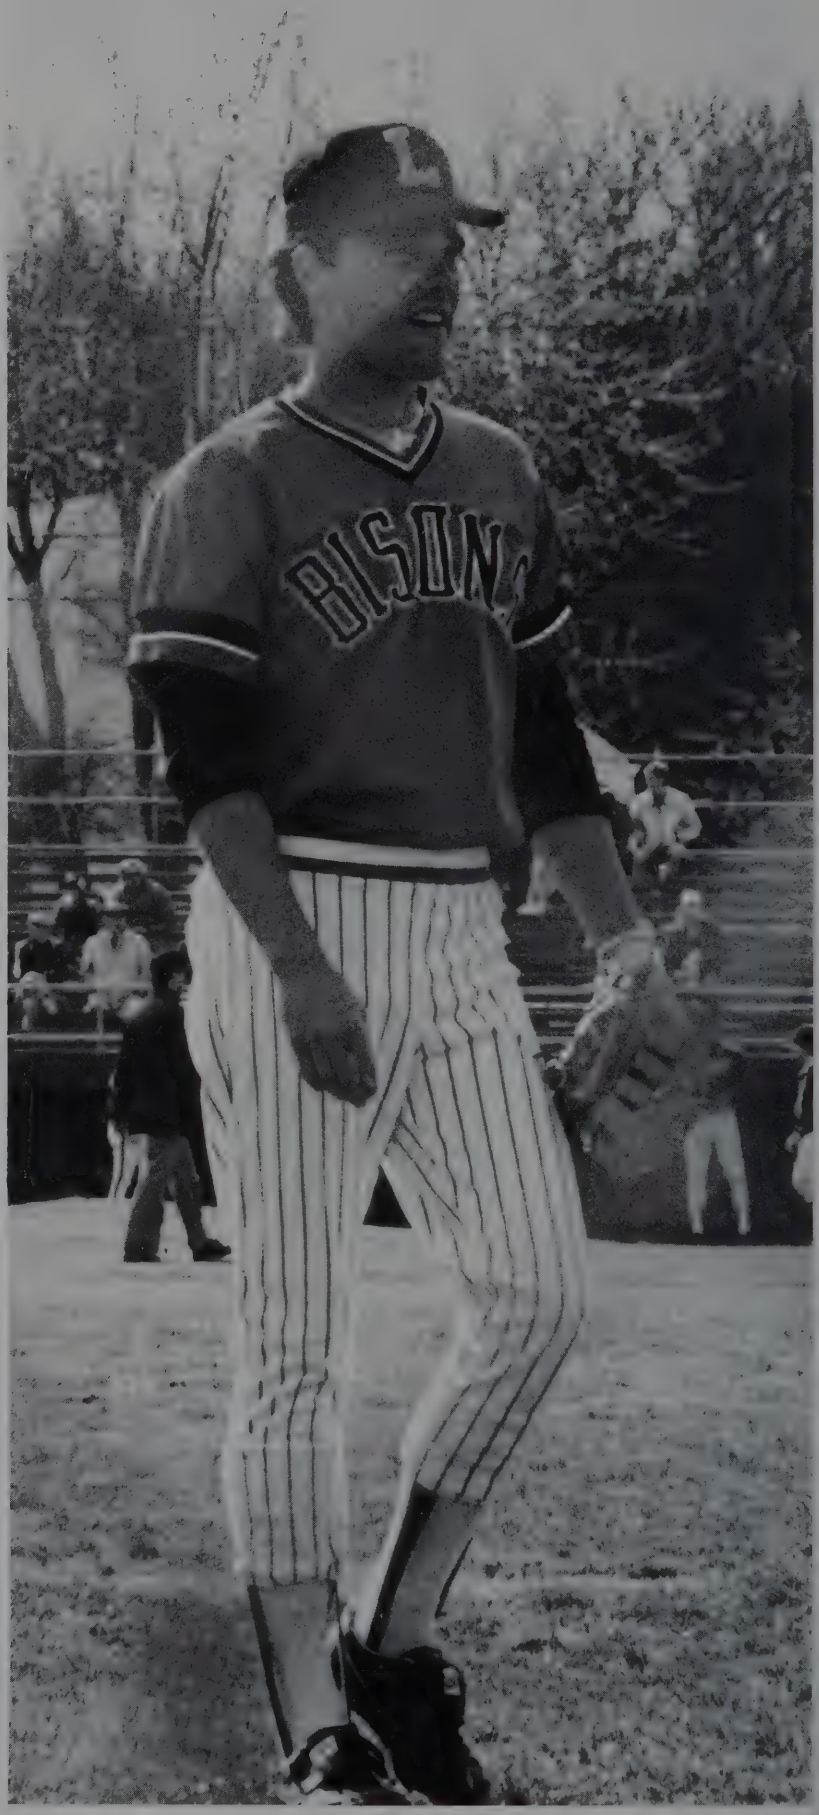
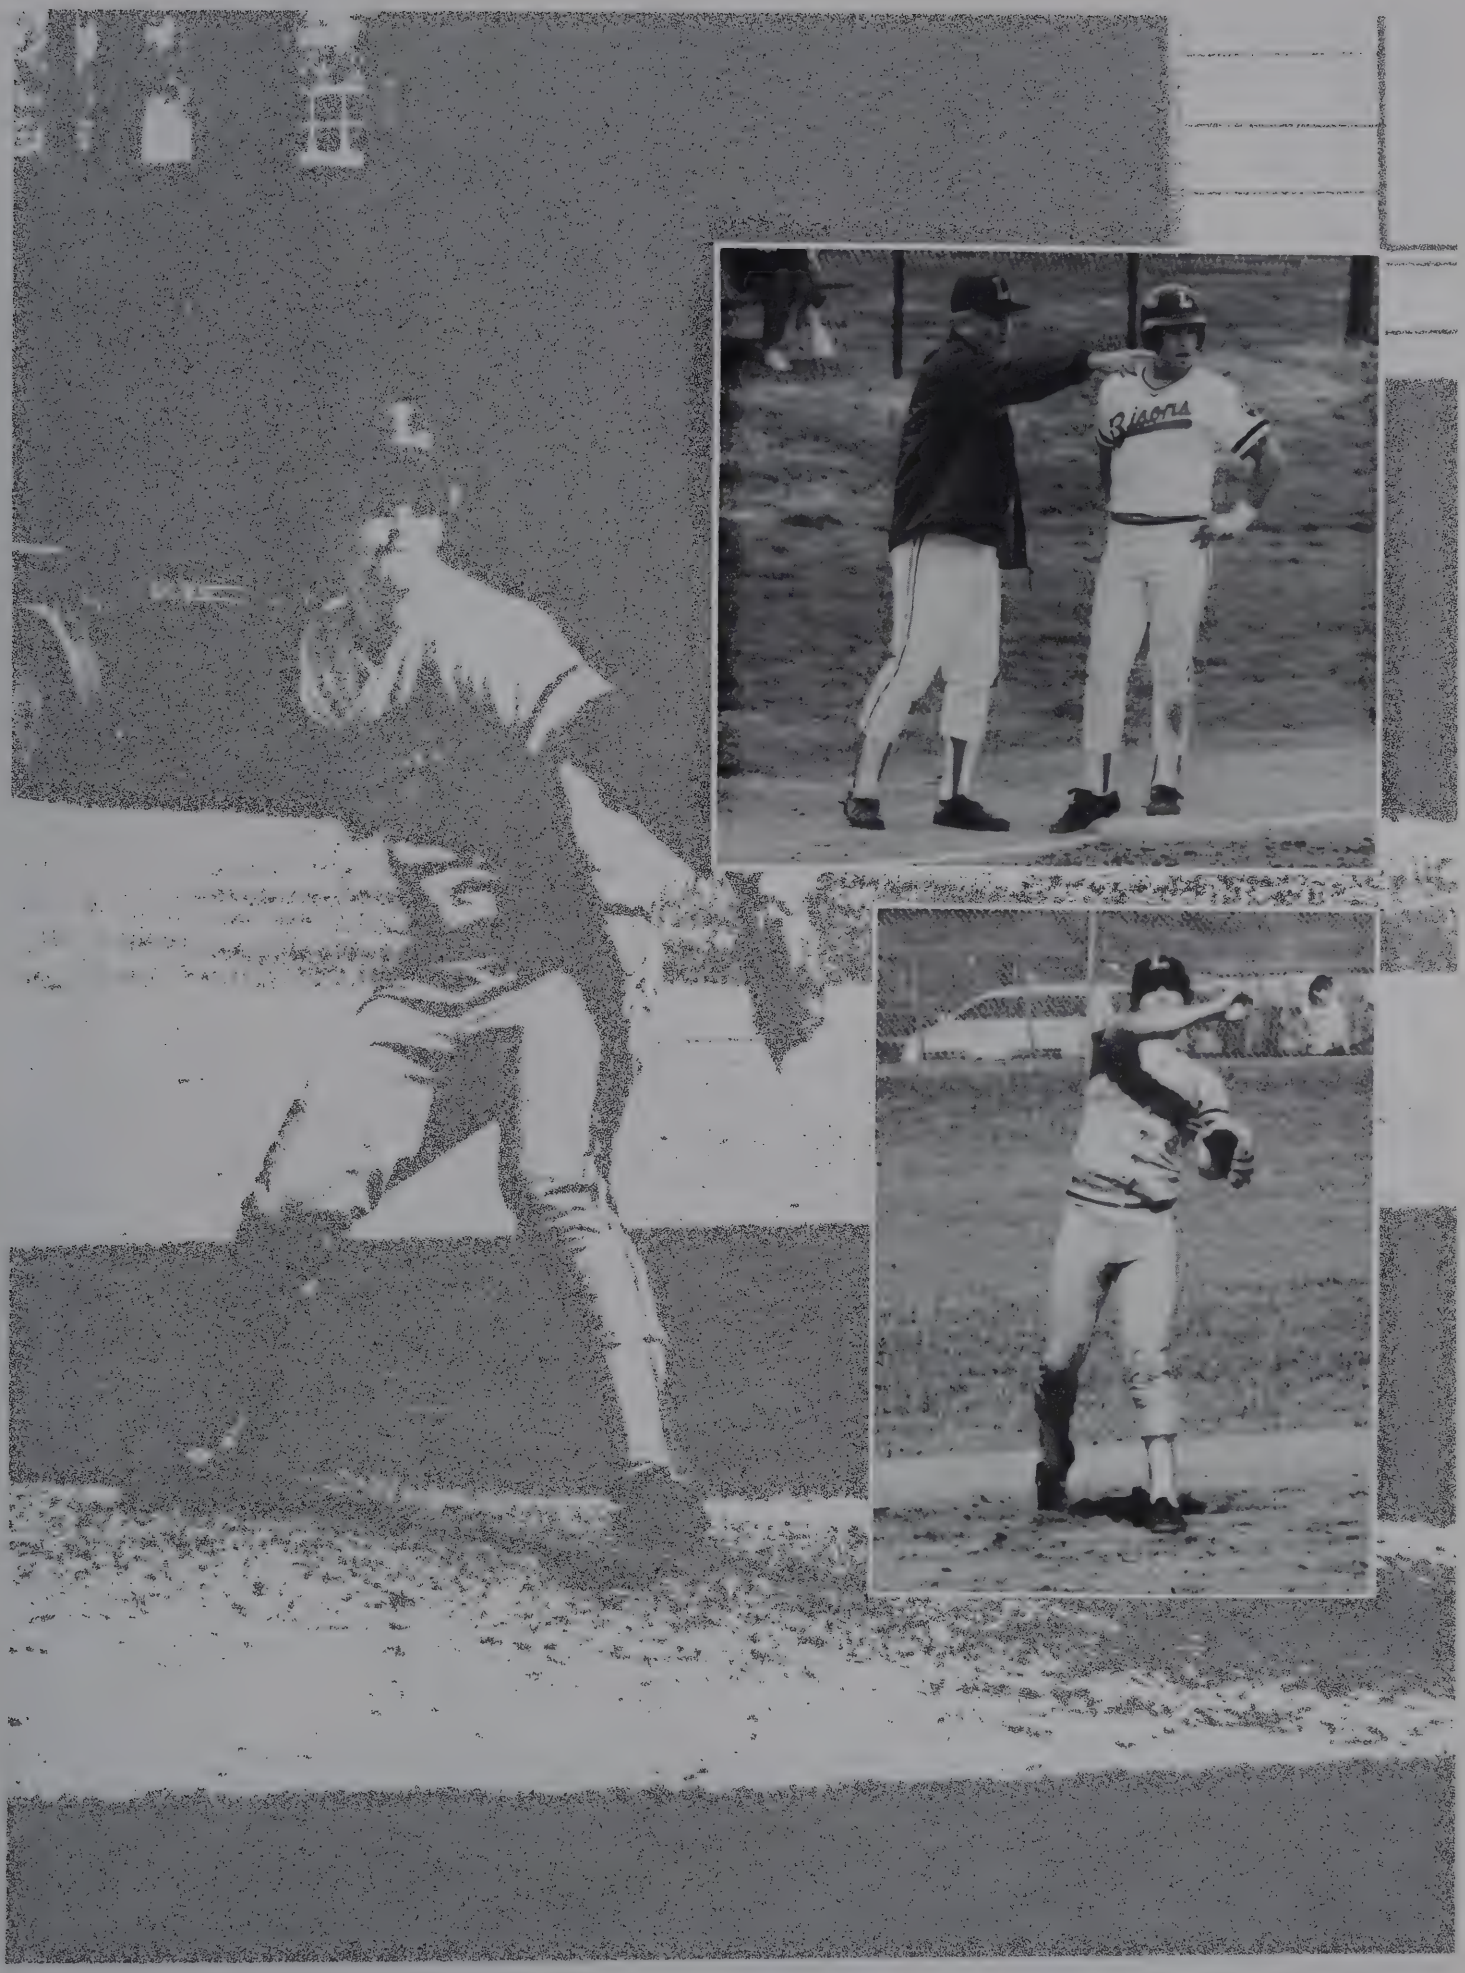
Excellent pitching had to be one of the strengths of the team. Brian Jones had a 11-0 record with an ERA of 1.41, Alan Malone had a record of 9-0 with an ERA of 3.50, John McPherson had a 6-0 record with an ERA of 3.89, and Mickey Fenn had a record of 7-0 with an ERA of 3.27. Hitting was also tremendous. Hitting over .400 were Phillip Dickens, hitting .458, and Benton Patton, hitting .409. Defense, however, was not to be overlooked, with Larry Breedlove at second, Rey Solis at shortstop, Mark Joseph at third, Mike Rippetoe as catcher, and Trey Hartman at centerfield doing a tremendous job. Hartman also did a great job offensively hitting .392.

When asked how the winning tradition that the baseball team has had affected the school and alumni in general, Brother Collins said, "David Lipscomb College has become a national power in baseball. This helps Lipscomb be a winner in the minds of people who think about sending their children here. As President, this fits the pattern which I have presented for Lipscomb. I want Lipscomb to excel in everything it does. I plead with our students to be positive for the right and to really be against the wrong. I want Lipscomb students to be winners for Christ."





Bisons

LADY BISONS

The Lady Bisons enjoyed their most successful season ever in the history of the women's basketball program. The Lady Bisons finished with a record of 24-11, second in VSAC West, a VSAC record of 9-3, and a No. 1 ranking in free-throw percentage in the nation. The Lady Bisons were in the National NAIA top 20 most of the year, being ranked as high as 6th.

This was a year of several firsts for the Lady Bisons. This was the first year they played in the District 24 playoffs, defeating Lambuth in the opening round, but losing to Union in the semi-finals ending a season that would go down in history. It also marked the first time that the Lady Bisons had beaten intra-city rival Belmont, which they did twice.

Some highlights of the year included beating the District 24 Champs Carson-Newman by a score of 93-79, and beating the Kentucky NAIA District Champs Campbellsville by a score of 99-76.

Two seniors, Rhonda Stewart and Nina Pedigo, served as co-captains. Stewart received All District 24, All VSAC awards and Pedigo was chosen to be a member of the Academic All-American NAIA team; Kim Satterfield, another team member, was awarded with the honor of being on the All Western Division VSAC team. In addition to these fine players, seven others also contributed much to the success of the season: Sharon Smith, Nicole Burgess, Shari Chastain, Liz Mathis, Celeste Peacock, Patti Bandy, and Lisa Bingham.

BISONS

This season a very young Bison team responded well to the senior leadership of Curtis Irmiger, Monty Hammontree, and Ricky Bowers and compiled an outstanding 30-5 record. They enjoyed a 22 home game winning streak and finished 11th in the final NAIA National Poll. The team also won the Bison Classic for the fourth straight year and the VSAC regular season and tournament championships. The Bisons finished second in the nation in field goal percentage, 57.2%. This exciting season came to an end with a loss in the semi-finals of the District Tournament to Christian Brothers College.

Ricky Bowers was named to the National Association of Basketball Coaches All-American team, the All-District 24 (NAIA) team, and the All-Western Division VSAC along with Anthony Jones and John Kimbrell. Monty Hammontree was named to the NAIA Academic All-American team. Other Bisons who contributed much to the successful season were Rodney Hampton, Todd Stewart, Anthony Jones, Robert Ford, Tony Cook, Richard Taylor, Anthony Nichols, John Kimbrell, Terence Bailey, and Tom Kelsey.

While Bowers and Hammontree have played on the team, the Bisons have won 107 games in four years and have ranked in the top twenty twice.

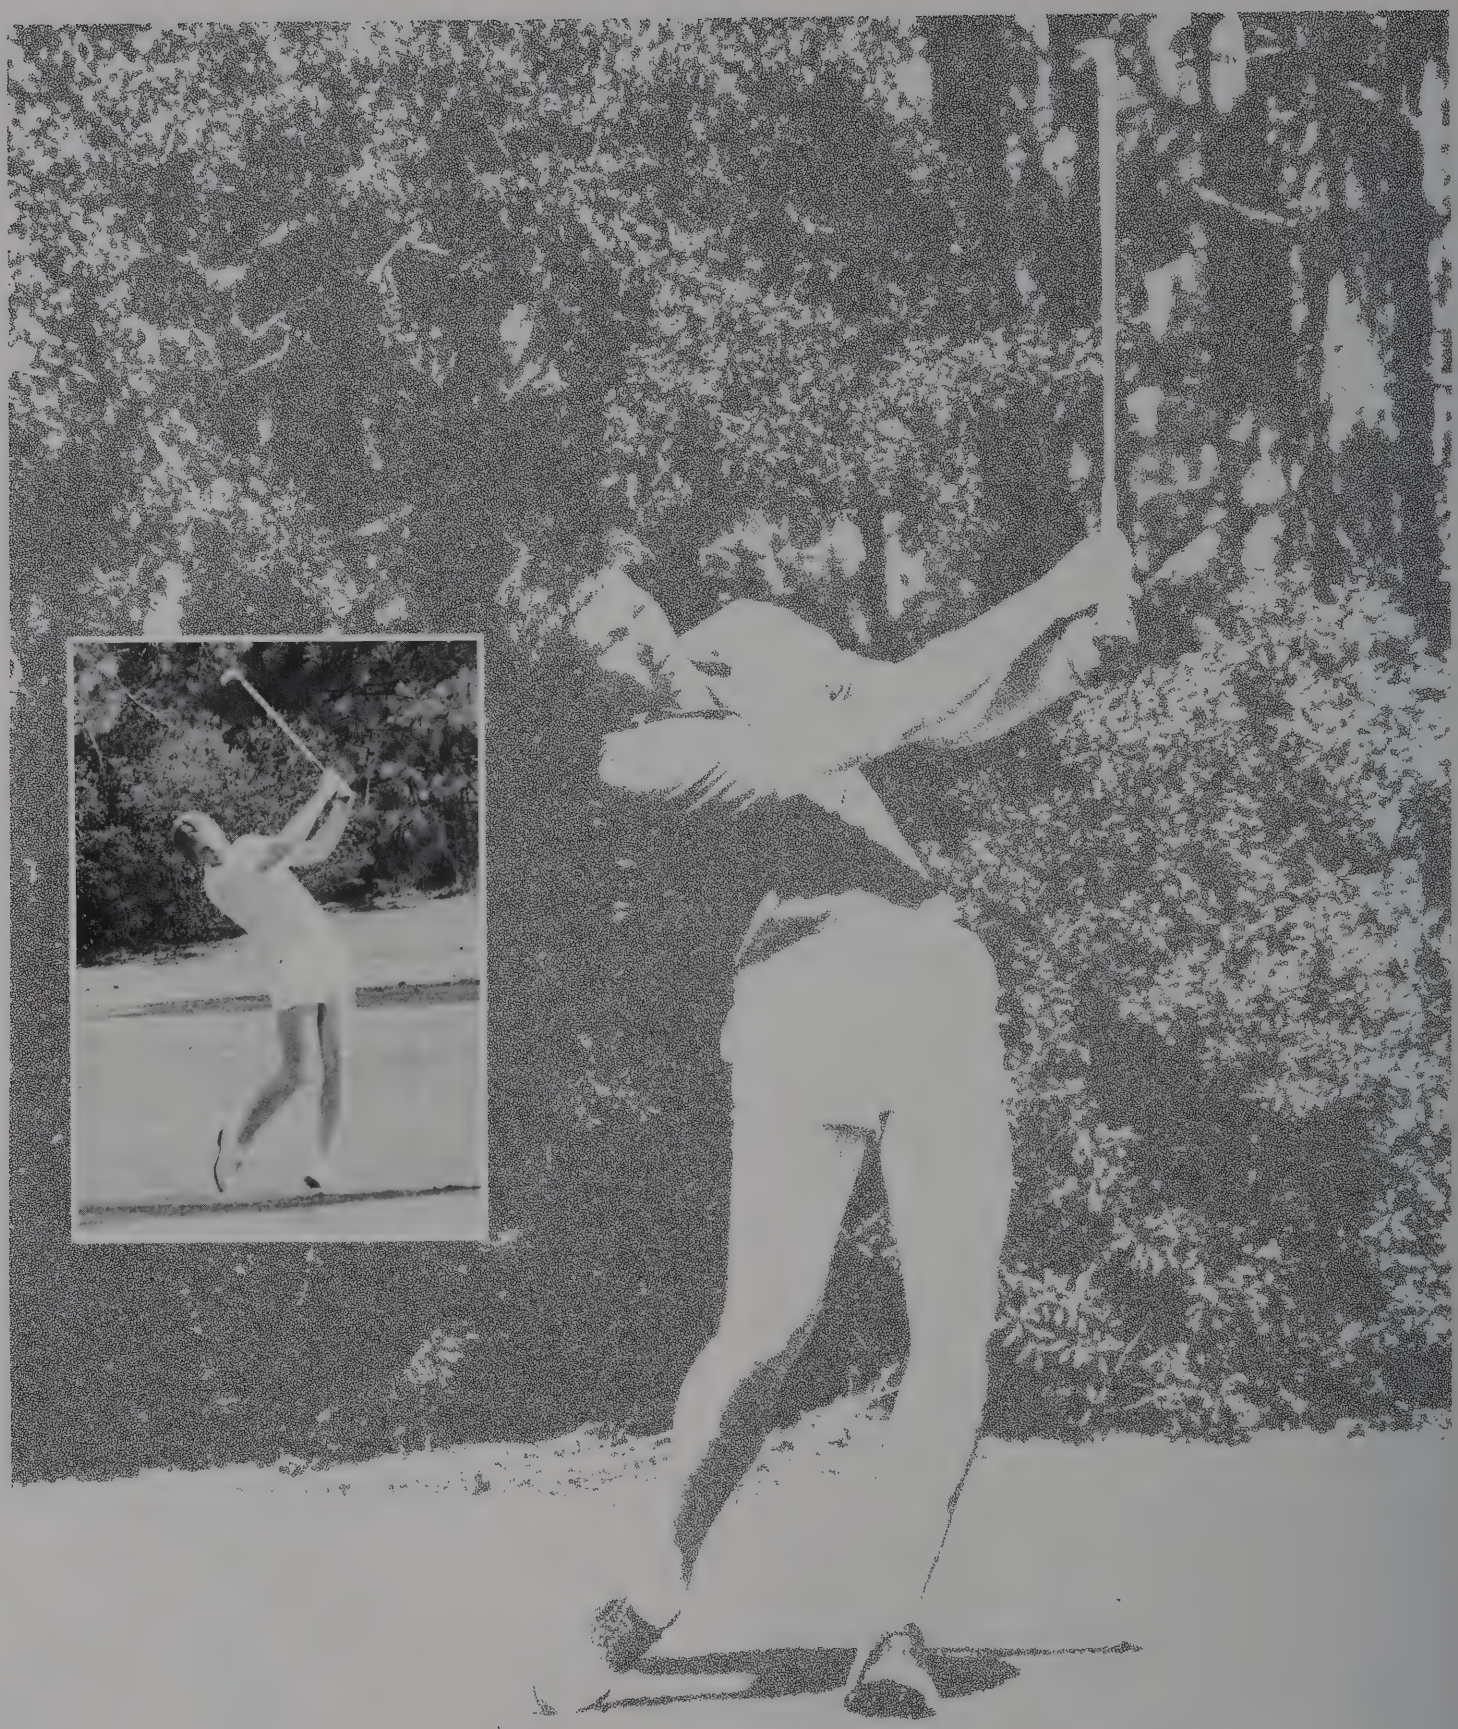
GOLF

Last year the golf team came in 7th at the Nationals and won five tournaments during the course of the year. This year the team is also enjoying a successful season. This fall the Bison golf team competed in four tournaments against such tough schools as University of Alabama, Auburn, and Georgia Tech. According to Coach Ralph Samples, the Bison golfers held their own. The team finished 8th in the prestigious Southern Junior Senior at Dadeville, AL. The Bisons were up against such tough competition as Auburn, Memphis State, and Troy State.



Three of the top five players who went to the Nationals last year are back this year. These included Captain Craig McElhaney of Nashville, who was NAIA District and All VSAC last year, and Mike Shuckers from Brooksville, PA. In addition to these fine players, four others complete the roster. These include Niel Olsen of Pensacola, FL, Loren Personett of Nashville, Trent Merritt of Nashville, and Dale Jackson of Chattanooga, TN.

This year the Bison golf team won the Tennessee Intercollegiate Championship. This is the fourth time that the Bison golfers have won the tournament and the second time in a row. Niel Olsen and Dave Armstrong were named to the All-State team.

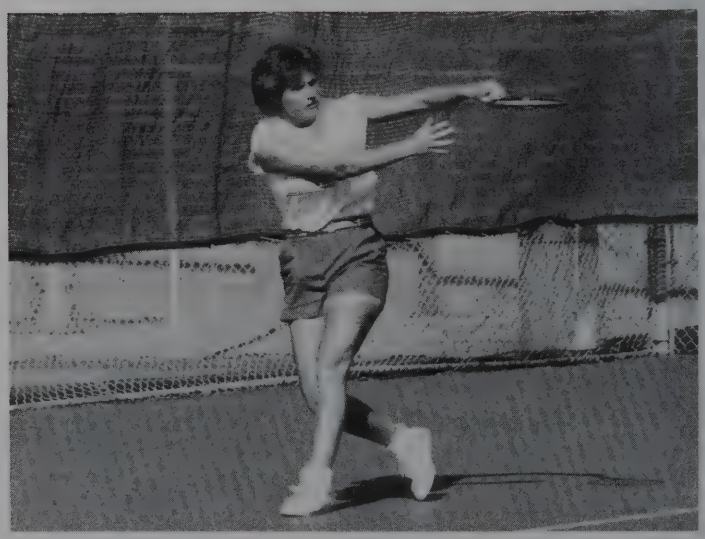
WOMEN'S TENNIS



Last year the ladies' tennis team finished with a 10-6 overall record, a 10-4 conference record, and placed 4th out of 14 in the VSAC. Named to the Academic All-Conference team were Renee Hall and Renee Edwards. This year the Lady Bison tennis team is enjoying another fine season. The two returning members of last year's squad, Melanie Burks, junior, and Nicole Burgess, sophomore, are joined by Maria Hester, freshman, Lisa Ammons, sophomore, Patti Bandy, freshman, and Willa Whitworth, senior. The youth of the squad brings hope for a great future. The squad returned from a spring break trip to Florida with a 3-1 record.

Patty Bandy earned All-Conference and All-District honors while Nicole Burgess was awarded Academic All-Conference.

MEN'S TENNIS

The men's tennis team enjoyed a 16-11 record, a 9-3 VSAC record, and placing 2nd in VSAC last year. All District included members Brad Jones in singles and Greg Ellis and Alex Loyd in doubles. Andy Dukes was named to the NAIA Academic All-American team. The Bison tennis team is enjoying a successful season this year as well. In addition to the returning members Greg Chambers, Brad Jones, and Tim Roberson, were first time members Glen Crouch, David Dowdy, Carter Dukes, Mike Gooch, John Kenning, and Monty Joseph. The team finished 5-1 after a spring break in Florida beating 3rd ranking NAIA Flagler, Marquette, University of Wisconsin at Stout, and Pfeiffer. Their only loss came to 11th ranked University of North Florida.

TRACK AND CROSS-COUNTRY

The track and cross-country team enjoyed a fine season this year. Flip Jones, senior, became David Lipscomb's first two-time national shot put champion, Sophomore Richard Beasley was 9th in the nation in the 35 lb. throw, and Bruce Todd went to the nation's finals in cross-country. David Lipscomb College, host of the State Meet, placed 3rd overall out of 10 teams, finishing behind MTSU and Carson-Newman. Flip Jones was the individual point leader with 38 points. He won the discus throw, hammer throw, shot put, and was 2nd in javelin throw. Richard Beasley placed 2nd in the hammer throw, 5th in the shot put, and 5th in the discus throw. Scott Owens came in 4th in the javelin throw, Paul Wingfield placed 5th in the 100 meter dash, and Bruce Todd came in 5th in the 5000 meter run. DLC came in 5th in the 400 meter relay and 5th in the one-mile relay.

CHEERLEADERS

A group of ten dedicated ladies cheered the Lady Bisons and Bisons on to many victories this year. Being dedicated means practicing three nights a week for up to four hours each session and cheering three nights a week for possibly another four hours each night. After the cheerleaders are elected by the student body the first or second week in October, only about a month's time is left for these ladies to prepare for the first game in early November. The support given to the cheerleaders, Lady Bisons, and Bisons was excellent this year, lasting throughout the season and into the tournaments.

Kristi Hunter, a senior, was the captain of this talented group, and the co-captain was a junior, Share Johnson. The other juniors included Cherie Harlan, Debbie Turner, Phyllis Wolfe, and Loa Collinson. Lisa Foster was the only sophomore on the squad, and Rachel Terry, Cayce Chumley, and Jane Lentz were the freshman members.

Vicki Roller, wife of men's Assistant Coach Mike Roller, is the sponsor. Due to her enthusiasm and the cooperation of the cheerleaders, the first summer cheerleading camp will be held during the same time as the basketball camps.

BADMINTON

The badminton team competed in three tournaments this year and did an outstanding job. At the tournament held at Memphis State, the Bison badminton team faced some tough competition, but Melanie Burks did manage to win the ladies' singles consolation game.

On February 10, 1984, David Lipscomb College held a tournament and faced UT-Martin. The results were:

Ladies' Singles
Melanie Burks—first Terry Roberts—second
Men's Singles
Carl Dinsmore—second
Ladies' Doubles
Rose McCallie and Terry Roberts—first
Men's Doubles
Carl Dinsmore and Roger Merritt—second
Mixed Doubles

Other Events

Intramural events were also held in bowling, badminton, golf, tennis, and, for the first time this year, wrestling.

Willa Whitworth, last year's athlete of the year, enjoyed helping Coach Ann Duncan, Director of Women's Intramurals, this year. Willa, a senior, has participated in volleyball, softball, Fall Fall-Out, basketball, and football every year that she has been here. She said that she participated because she loved sports and thought they made college life more enjoyable. Willa said she especially liked intramurals because they gave everyone a chance to get involved, even girls who had never played sports before. And many people did get involved, more than in any other campus activity.

Willa's love for sports and her interest in the yearbook made this record of the year's intramurals possible.

Organizations

In a chorus, a group of individuals sing together to achieve a common goal: beautiful music.

At David Lipscomb College, there are many choruses, for there are many groups that not only sing together, but also worship, work, learn, and play together for some common goal.

These choruses are the organizations, and they form an active and important part of this college. People join together in many varied groups representing the areas of music, service, academics, and social clubs, and here they are free to make their own music among friends.

The Lipscomb A Cappella enjoys a long and distinguished history. Founded in 1949 as the Choristers, its purpose was to represent the college as its select mixed voice choral ensemble. The present name, A Cappella Singers, was adopted shortly thereafter. The group soon established a reputation for performance excellence, and this tradition has remained a trademark of the A Cappella through the years.

Although emphasizing unaccompanied sacred literature, the repertoire of the A Cappella includes also secular and accompanied works for on-campus concerts. One of the highlights of every school year is the spring Major Works Concert which features the combined choruses with the Orchestra and Wind Ensemble in performance of various oratorio masterworks.

Membership in the A Cappella is determined by audition at the beginning of each academic school year. Under the direction of Dr. Putnam Reeves, the group rehearses daily, and in addition to various on-campus and local performances, takes an extended tour during spring vacation to various regions of the nation.

The generations of students that have sung in A Cappella throughout the decades have all been bound by a very special Christian fellowship, . . . love of one another and love of music.

Directed by Larry Griffith, the Chorale maintains a busy schedule each year representing DLC and the Department of Music at choral festivals, campus and local performances, and on an extended tour each spring.

Concentrating on sacred, a cappella choral literature, the Chorale seeks to glorify God through song while maintaining high musical standards. The many concerts throughout the year serve a dual purpose in that they help promote good public relations for the college while also helping recruit students.

Activities of the 1983-84 Chorale included a trip to Abilene, Texas, for the Christian College Choral Festival, participation in the Tennessee Collegiate Choral Festival at Tennessee Tech in Cookeville, and numerous local and campus performances in addition to the Spring Tour. This year's Spring Tour was scheduled to include stops in Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, New York City, and Niagara Falls.

The motto "Chorale . . . a joyful noise" has described the group for several years. This joy is shown not only in the music they sing, but also in the special love individual members have for one another and the special closeness which binds the entire group together. Many extra functions such as Halloween and Christmas parties, banquets, special devotionals, and picnics are testimonials to this closeness.

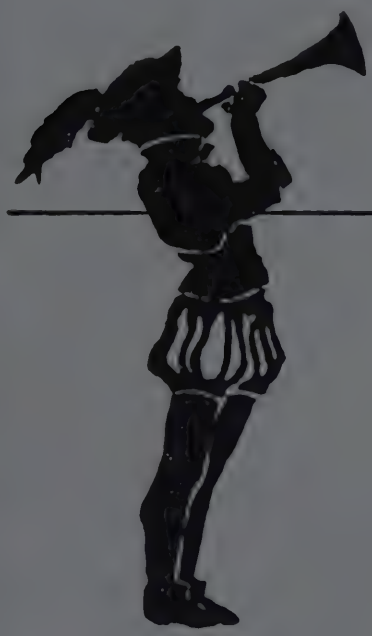
Consort



Recreating Renaissance and Medieval Music

The Early Music Consort consists of 14 members directed by Dr. Gerald Moore. The group performs music usually neglected by other ensemble groups. The music consists of choral and instrumental Medieval and Renaissance music before 1600. The instruments are reproductions of the Renaissance and Medieval instruments. On December 2, the group transformed the college Dining Center into the Royal Court of Queen Elizabeth in the year 1600, for the 3rd Annual Christmas Madrigal Dinner. The festivities included a Christmas jester, strolling minstrels, Elizabethan decorations and costumes, group singing of English carols, and the premiere performance of Lipscomb's new harpsichord. The Dinner was hosted by the David Lipscomb College Department of Music. On February 21, the ensemble performed the music from the time of King Henry VIII for an attentive audience in the chapel of Granny White Church.

Front: Rick Roach—Bass, Cash McCloy—Drums, Brad Clark—Lead Guitar; Back: Sam Mullins—Banjo and Guitar, Stephen Randolph—Keyboards.

Left: Rick Poole, Director of Scheduling

Windsong had its origin in the summer of 1978. At that time, the Admissions Office felt a definite need for a different method of interaction with high school students—a fresh approach to telling the story of Lipscomb. The idea of sending out a team of student representatives who portrayed the ideals of Christian education from a current, realistic viewpoint was unanimously chosen as an appealing avenue of contact with prospective students. Since the fall of 1978, audience response from far and wide has proven that Windsong has been a highly successful idea. Today, David Lipscomb College is still proud to present Windsong for your enjoyment.

Windsong's itinerary during the year included trips to various high schools, both public and private, to perform and promote Christian education at David Lipscomb College. They were also very popular when used as entertainment for banquets, youth rallies, and various other functions. Their performances over the past few years have taken them through at least 12 states east of the Mississippi.

The group changed their repertoire for the 1983-84 school year to include more Bluegrass, Top-40, and Nashville Sound (Pop Country), as well as a variety of crossover hits that appeal to a larger audience.

The Journeymen

A new singing ensemble organized to represent Lipscomb this year is a men's quartet, The Journeymen. The quartet was selected through auditions in October, and they are a part of the Department of Music, directed by Dr. James Jackson. The repertoire for The Journeymen is a variety of styles of music, including religious, barbershop, traditional and country-western selections.

They have performed for numerous church, school, and community audiences during their first year, traveling to various parts of Tennessee and other Southern states, including Kentucky, Georgia, and Florida.

The Journeymen produced a recording of their spring repertoire, and sold tapes to help finance their travels to represent Lipscomb.

The Pied Pipers

Appealing to children of all ages

Pied Pipers are sponsored by the Department of Speech Communication. Dr. Carroll Ellis is supervisor. Anyone can schedule a show by calling the department. Most shows are done in elementary schools, day care centers, or birthday parties. There is no charge (except for gas expenses) for the shows which usually last 20-25 minutes.

Shows can be aimed at children ages 1 to 100, consisting of favorite children's stories, songs, and rhyme. No scripts are used for the shows, so impromptu ability is one thing looked for in auditions. A Piper's main concern is to put a little bit of sunshine into the heart of every person in the room. And always leave them with the song "Love Is Something If You Give It Away."

The group is being directed this year by Anna Byrd, Rusty Roden, and Andrea Payne.

project good news

Project Good News is a world evangelism ministry of the Central church of Christ in Valdosta, Georgia. PGN uses the facilities and missions curriculum at David Lipscomb College as the training ground for academic preparation of young men and women who desire to enter for mission work.

The greatest need in the evangelism of the world is teachers. Project Good News exists to help fulfill this need. Because of the desire of the elders of the Central church and of the administration of David Lipscomb to provide teachers of Christ, students at Lipscomb have the opportunity to carry the Torch of Knowledge to an unsaved world.

Project Good News is an apprentice missionary program which says to the student, "If you will come to Lipscomb and train, we will help you secure support to work in a mission field for two years at a subsistence income under the supervision of an experienced missionary. After the completion of two years of service, you will return home. At this point you may pursue the career for which you have trained or you may decide to return to the mission field. You will now have the experience of the missionary and you will be a greater blessing to the lost of the world wherever you choose to live."

Project Good News is for students who train in any discipline and not just for Bible or Missions majors. In addition to the curriculum requirements, most of which may fulfill the daily Bible requirement, the trainee will participate in a major campaign effort or work full time for a local church over a summer. He or she will attend a Mission Workshop or Forum. Trainees are expected to be active in the work of a local congregation while a student at Lipscomb as well as attend the weekly PGN training meetings. In addition to the specific missionary training, the student who chooses to serve in an area of the world where English is not spoken will begin language training early and seek practical opportunities for use.

Since its beginning in 1975, over 50 apprentices have served in twelve countries around the world. Currently Lipscomb graduates are working in Australia, Scotland, New Zealand, and Papua New Guinea. At present, 54 students are in training for two years of service. Of that number, Anthony Parker, Rob Roberson, Melody Carroll, Theresa Angel, and Michael Scott will complete the training requirements and be ready to leave for the mission field in Spring of 1984. Anthony will work in New Zealand and the other four will travel to Australia to serve. Eighteen students will graduate during the 1984-85 school year and travel to such faraway places as Papua New Guinea or Liverpool, England or to the near mission field of Williamsburg, VA.

A PGN worker is involved in teaching all ages, from going house-to-house, public teaching, teaching Bible in public schools, to working with youth. In addition to teaching, the apprentice may be involved in preparing and mailing the church bulletin, advertising, babysitting, secretarial work, cooking, singing, planning, yard work, personal work training, VBS, church camps, campus outreach, and many other activities.

Requests for Project Good News workers have come from missionaries from 20 different localities in this country and overseas. The words of Christ spoken centuries ago ring out in truth, "The harvest is plenteous but the laborers are few." David Lipscomb College is making a valuable contribution towards the evangelization of this generation. However, more needs to be done and can be done through the opportunities of service offered through Project Good News.

Good News Singers

The main objectives of the Good News Singers were to share the good news of Christ through programs of song and dramatic reading, and to encourage others to share it as well. Good News Singers have been a vital part of the Treasure of Truth crusades in various countries around the world and several American cities. They have sung at prisons, nursing homes, mission forums, schools, shopping centers and other places. They have also produced two albums: The Search and Celebration.

Outreach Club

The Outreach Club was designed to work in the cause of Christ. The members participated in activities that aided and strengthened the church.

The club's two main projects were the work with the children at Inner City Ministry and singing to the residents at Belmont Health Care Center.

Summer Campaign to Papua New Guinea

Dr. Joe Gray, director of Project Good News, will lead a three-week campaign for Christ to Port Moresby, Papua New Guinea in June 1984. Lipscomb students will make up over one-half of the crusade work force for this first-time campaign effort in a third world nation.

Port Moresby is a frontier city of 139,000. Most of the people were born in the village, reared in the bush, and live in "stone age" conditions. Moresby is called the "town of young men" because many young men have come from the bush country to find work, where in many cases there is none. Many people in Moresby speak English to some extent. However the prospective campaigners are studying "pidgin" in an attempt to better communicate with the nationals.

The Treasure of Truth campaign, under the oversight of the Central church of Christ in Valdosta, GA, is going to Moresby to talk with every person in that area about Jesus Christ. In order to do that work, groups will form that will be involved in many different aspects of outreach. Campus evangelism and public meetings will be held in an effort to reach the "elite" minds of the country. Special groups will travel with missionaries into the bush or outback areas and teach people from village to village. The Moresby Fair will be held during the crusade and the workers will take advantage of the thousands of people who travel into the city for this annual event. The church will have a fair booth to make contacts and have opportunity to conduct Bible studies. Puppet shows in English will be prepared and presented by the campaigners at the Fair, on the street and in the parks to attract people to hear more of the message of New Testament Christianity. In addition to the Good News Singers, public services in pidgin, and visits from house-to-house, campaigners will be involved in street preaching, distribution of tracts, and individual teaching.

Over 500 Lipscomb students have participated in Treasure of Truth campaigns both foreign and domestic, in its 22 years of operation. Many who have had the campaign experience have later made the decision to become missionaries. All who have participated have known moments of growth and rededication to the spread of the Lord's kingdom wherever they have chosen to live. Each campaigner is expected to raise his or her own financial support. Thanks to the decision of the ASA, $1000 of Singarama's 1983 income will go towards the financial support of the 20-30 students who will take part in the 1984 effort to Papua New Guinea.

Project Good News Week

Each year the members of Project Good News in cooperation with the PGN staff set aside one week designed to promote an awareness on the Lipscomb campus of the needs and opportunities of Project Good News. For the last several years the week has been scheduled for the first full week of classes. The theme for PGN Week 1983 was "RUN IN GOD'S NAME and let the world stand back in wonder."

This thought was borrowed from the film CHARIOTS OF FIRE whose heroes were runners—fast, purposeful, victorious runners. The theme lent itself well to the activities of the week which were planned in order to challenge the Christians on this campus to use their lives in such a way as to bring honor and glory to the name of Christ and truly cause the world to stand in awe.

In addition to the traditional activities of the week, such as the Pie Supper, the Information booth, the hall display and the speakers in chapels, Project Good News introduced several new activities. The film CHARIOTS OF FIRE was the initial introduction to the theme of the week and was shown for the student body as well as Christians in the area. Mr. Paul Knight and the SAGA food service provided an international food fair with samples from the Far East, the South Pacific and Europe. Many students, especially those who struggled with chop sticks, enjoyed this cultural experience. Following the feast, Games International took place on the quadrangle where students experienced such fun as "Catch the New Guinea Native" or the old "Peruvian Coffee Bean Sack Jump." A truly beautiful addition to the 1983 schedule was "The Runner's Diary," a luncheon in which "Uncle" Barney Morehead shared missions stories and challenged listeners with the world! The conclusion of the week's activities was a retreat organized by students. The one day event was a wonderful period of fellowship, relaxing, and sharing and a tremendous way to bring PGN week to its conclusion.

Many students put in hours of work from painting the display to putting together the slide show, putting up bulletin boards, posters, and making announcements in dorms and Bible classes. Without this great effort from the members and friends of PGN the week would not have had nearly the effect that it did. Appreciation is due to the administration of the school for encouraging this emphasis.

Realizing that the apprentice concept is only one way of serving people in God's name, the 120 people who attended the Pie Supper were able to find out other areas of service offered to the DLC student. Representatives from Chi Alpha Rho (preachers' club), DAC (ministry to the deaf), Outreach (Christian service club), Good News Singers, campaigns and Bible study groups announced the functions and meeting times of their organizations.

Circle K and K-Ettes

Circle K Club and K-ettes were founded on the principle that college students should be afforded the opportunity to develop leadership training in service activities. The main objective of the clubs is to serve others through various community and campus service projects. Activities involved were visiting with the elderly at Lakeshore, working with Saturday School students at Ashwood Church of Christ, the quarterly blood drive on campus, and spending time at the Outlook Nashville day care center for children with mental and physical handicaps.

Working on a bi-weekly newspaper like The Babbler requires much commitment and responsibility. Senior Mary Lou Ratliff, editor of The Babbler, said that this past year's staff had more experienced members who had returned from last year.

This year there were also many new features added to the paper, such as a point-counterpoint editorial column, and movie and album reviews. Ratliff also said, "We're trying to keep up the quality of the paper and be fun to read too. We are also trying to be a student paper and cover more student issues."

Other members of the staff included Editorials Editor, Mark Elrod; Entertainment Editor, Grant Rampy; Copy Editor, Mark Wood; Design Editor, Nina Jones; staff writers, Paige Burke, Kevin Harris, Karen M. The Backlog staff is an organization entrusted with the huge responsibility of producing a record of David Lipscomb College every year. The work and the pressure never stops! But being part of the staff offers great opportunities and valuable experience for those students interested in photography, public relations, secretarial work, writing, art, and publications, as well as those students in unrelated majors who can give of their time and talents for such an important purpose.

Working together on the Backlog develops teamwork, self-discipline, and friendship, as well as providing a source of accomplishment and pride. Of course, a sense of humor is always important in dealing with each other and the people the staff tries to cover.

Reliable help can always be used. Cooperation from the entire campus would be great. Still, the production of a satisfactorily complete book would take 12 months and eight hours a day. Unfortunately, that's impossible, but the challenge is always there!

Each student at Lipscomb is a member of the All Student Association. The representative body of the ASA is a senate composed of the president and secretary, four senators from each of the four classes, and four elected from the student body at large. The senate drafts and submits to the college administration proposals recommending measures in the interest of the student body. Another prime function of the senate is the planning and execution of various campus activities including movies, concerts, club fairs, picnics, academic and Bible quiz bowls, lectures, and other special events. This year special services such as a tutoring program, a student savings card, and a freshman orientation handbook were provided by ASA senators.

Within the senate are six committees which are responsible for carrying out ASA duties. Each committee consists of a chairman and several members from the senate and a few nonvoting members chosen from the student body by the chairmen. The committees are: academic (Nina Jones, chairman), campus opinion (Steve Moore, chairman), elections (Tim Gobble, chairman), entertainment (Dave Mangum, chairman), spiritual life (Daniel Clayton, chairman), and student life (Bari Craig, chairman). This year these committees have worked diligently to meet the needs of the student body.

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega is the national fraternity of dramatics. The chapter at Lipscomb is called the Pi Kappa Cast, and its members are Becky Roland, director; Sam Wallace, business manager; Barbara Howell; and Rusty Roden. The main objective of the fraternity is to promote dramatics and the theatre on Lipscomb's campus. Alpha Psi Omega members have experience in performance and in theatrical production, and have an active interest in theatre. Requirements for membership in Alpha Psi Omega include a sufficient amount of acting and technical experience in collegiate dramatics.

Each spring, the Pi Kappa Cast Alpha Psi Omega produces its One-Act Plays, each of which is directed by an AΨΩ member. Alpha Psi Omega members are involved both backstage and onstage with every campus dramatic production. They also sponsor cast parties for productions.

Alpha Kappa Psi, the National Professional Business Fraternity, is an organization open to any student majoring or minoring in business now that women may also join. In order to become a member, a student must have a 2.5 quality point average or better, and must complete a two week trial period which is centered around the history of the fraternity.

Alpha Kappa Psi exists to educate the public in economic and free private enterprise, to assist students and scholars, and to make grants to educational institutions. Its on-campus activities included preparation of a student directory for the student body, organization of the Santa House for orphan homes in the area, involvement in Special Olympics, and organization of girls' powderpuff football. Members were also active in intramural football, basketball, and softball. They took business related field trips, had their annual banquets and attended the regional and national conventions of Alpha Kappa Psi.

Chi Alpha Rho is concerned with developing the talents of those interested in any form of ministry in the church. The club is founded on the principles of Christian leadership and is open to anyone having as their goal serving God better through the ministry. To display their Christian attitudes, Chi Alpha Rho held devotionals at nursing homes and provided sessions with the intent of improving the members' ministry talents.

The College Democrats have as a main objective promoting political awareness on campus. The club is made up of people who enjoy and have been involved in the political process. Two members worked as interns for Tennessee's General Assembly and two served as youth coordinators in a mayoral race. Most of the members have had some experience in politics. There is a wide variety of people in the club varying from English majors to political science majors. The members are very interested in promoting politics. Their interest stems from the feeling that people need to understand how their government works. Showing the movie "Bedtime For Bonzo," conducting a survey of political issues, arranging for political personalities to come and speak and having voter registration drives were some of the activities carried on by the College Democrats. Members also examined candidates carefully in order to decide which candidates to support in upcoming elections. President Steve Moore stated, "If we can increase political knowledge on campus, we have succeeded."

The Dactylology Club devotes its time to enhancing the spirit of understanding and cooperation between the hearing and the hearing impaired, providing opportunities for its members to learn to effectively communicate with and promote the Lord's work among those who are deaf or hearing impaired, and giving many people a chance to learn sign language enough to be able to do these things.

The DAC club is open to both men and women. In order to be a member, one must attend meetings, pay dues, and attend church services involving dactylology uses once a quarter. No pledging is required.

Students involved with DAC were busy with activities in the community, on campus, and in the church. They worked with the Mayor's Advisory Committee for Handicapped Persons to help survey Nashville businesses to see how accessible they were to handicapped people. On campus, they conducted chapel in which everything was done in sign language. In their work with the Central church of Christ, they attended a play at the Tennessee Performing Arts Center which was interpreted for the deaf and also attended captioned movies for the deaf congregation and provided either a meal or refreshments for those present.

The main objective of the Home Economics Club was to create a greater understanding of the significant place of different areas of home economics in our society and to stimulate action which will provide for the total well being of the family and the individual. The club was founded on the principle that Delta Theta Pi was "service to God through the home." The club was engaged in several parties throughout the year and invited guest speakers to speak on various areas of home economics.

Mu Epsilon Delta is composed primarily of pre-medical students, but membership is also open to pre-dental, pre-pharmacy, nursing, physical therapy, medical technology, and students in any of the other health-science fields. The club tries to familiarize its members with careers in the health sciences, to bind together similarly interested students, and to aid these students in developing an adequate program of health-science education.

A short informal pledging period is required for entry into the club. The student must have a GPA of 2.75, attend meetings, and engage in courses leading to the study of any of the aforementioned areas.

Mu Epsilon Delta is proud of the fact that a very high percentage of acceptance into professional schools is reached by students from Lipscomb. They feel that the club has a great deal of influence on this fact.

NAA

The newly-formed chapter of the National Association of Accountants is a student affiliate group of the Capital City chapter of the National Association of Accountants. The main objective of this club was to promote accounting and professionalism. NAA provided accounting students and professionals a chance to come together and share ideas on current issues which affect the accounting profession.

Membership was open to junior and senior accounting majors with a minimum GPA of 2.8. Several members have found that NAA has helped them to achieve their objectives in pursuing career opportunities.

Phi Alpha Theta

Phi Alpha Theta is the international honor society in history. Therefore the objective of the club is to spread the study and understanding of history, and to understand the implications it has for people today. The club is almost entirely majors and minors in history with a few political science people. Completion of 17 hours in history, a 3.0 GPA overall, and a 3.3 GPA in history are all requirements. Most members feel it is an integral part of their scholastic career.

This year Phi Alpha Theta sponsored a lecture on the Far East by Dr. Tim Tucker in the fall. The Grapes of Wrath was shown winter quarter in conjunction with Sigma Tau Delta, and in the spring a political forum was held with the College Democrats and Young Republicans.

Phi Beta Lambda

The main objective of Pi Beta Sigma is to enhance the idea of social work as a profession. The members of the club assisted in the school's curriculum planning and aided in the attempts to achieve national accreditation for the social work program. Pi Beta Sigma is founded on the principles of protecting, building, and serving.

Pi Epsilon

Pi Epsilon is based on the belief that all people should develop to their fullest potential—physically, mentally, socially, emotionally, and spiritually. This group of students, who have physical education majors or minors, work to provide an opportunity for the students to become involved in professional activities which will help prepare them better for their future roles as teachers or in various related fields.

The club's main activity was the Jump Rope for Heart Project, which is conducted each year to raise funds for the American Heart Association.

Psi Chi

Row 1: Kristi Durnal, Brian Gates, Secretary/Treasurer; Jamie Welsh, Keith Haddock, Vice President; Tammie McDearmon, John C. Langlois

Psi Chi is a group of involved and cooperative people striving for the encouragement, stimulation, and advancement of the science of psychology. Psi Chi is a national honor society, an affiliate of the American Psychological Association, and a member of the Association of College Honor Societies. In order to become a member of Psi Chi, a student must have at least 12 hours in psychology and maintain a 3.0 GPA in psychology and a 2.0 GPA overall.

Psi Chi was involved in psychology conventions, as well as several on-campus seminars. Members made regular trips to Middle Tennessee Mental Health Institute, provided tutoring for general psychology classes, and did individual research work with agencies.

Psi Chi members are proud that they have become an active club with intentions of providing different services to students and to various institutions.

Sigma Alpha Iota

Row 1: Beth Rains, Kittie Taylor, Darlene Carvell, Rachel Fendor, Nancy McDoniel, Lori Robertson
Row 2: Elyssa Hood, Nancy Slaven, Melissa Brooks, Jennifer Thornton, Sandra Hart, Kathie Wood, Sharon Palmer

Sigma Alpha Iota is a national music fraternity. Its purpose is to encourage and aid those interested in music and to further the development of music worldwide. Its members were well provided with many chances to perform. They acted as a service to the Department of Music and worked closely with other chapters in the city. One of the main projects was enlarging music for those with sight problems.

Sigma Tau Delta

The Student Tennessee Education Association is involved with National Education Week, a quarterly reception for student teachers, and the STEA convention and seminars. STEA was very proud of their fostering of professional education through magazines and group support. The main objective of the organization was to foster an awareness of teaching as a professional through the use of the above activities. STEA strongly believes in the idea of truth, justice, and the American way of teaching.

To Pledge Or Not To Pledge

That's the question almost everyone faces when they enter college. True, social clubs practically dominate all social activities, so if guaranteed friends and fun are what you're looking for, a club is probably the route you'll want to take. You won't be alone; David Lipscomb College has 20 social clubs with accommodations for forty-five members each.

But what if you're not so group oriented? Perhaps you consider yourself a rugged individualist or a self-confirmed loner. Or maybe you're in college strictly to learn all you can as quickly as you can and to graduate. Whatever the reason, there's certainly no need to make excuses; approximately 75% of the enrolled students are not involved in social clubs, and that doesn't make them unsociable.

Comradeship and enjoyable activities can be found in special interest groups; music, academics, even mission work clubs and organizations are available on campus, so don't hesitate to explore your options. Social clubs may or may not be right for you, but there's usually something to suit every taste and talent at David Lipscomb College.

RUSH FAIR

For still another year, each of the men's and women's social clubs turned out for Rush Fair. Each club set up a booth with information about their activities. Students interested in pledging walked around meeting the actives and looking at their scrapbooks. Many of the clubs served refreshments and gave handout information about their club to those who came by.

Row 2: Tamara Rhodes, Kristi Durnal, Bruce Beck, Ken Glaus, Rick Roach, Carolyn Thompson, Phil Ellenburg, Lisa Yates, Vickie Davis, Robin Combee, Marty Hutson

The ICC is the governing body of the social club system. It is composed of the presidents of the twenty social clubs. After new club presidents have been elected each year, a new President and Secretary of the ICC are elected. The President's job is to preside over the meetings. The Secretary's job is to keep minutes of the meetings, and keep council members informed of necessary information. The President and Secretary of the ICC meet with the Deans before each bi-weekly ICC meeting to go over the itinerary for the meeting in addition to the duties of their respective offices. Each spring the ICC sponsors an ice cream supper. The ICC also sponsors a party for the pledges during the two-week pledge period.

Gamma Lambda is founded on unity. Members come together for a diversity of reasons, and this variety of reasons stems from the appreciation of each other as individuals—individual personalities; individual traits of character; individual qualities that each member cherishes about the other. Members range from girls majoring in accounting, fashion merchandising, and marketing, to girls in preveterinary and biology.

Gamma Lambda's main objective is to give the members the opportunity to become involved and to meet people and to give its members the chance to associate with other people of similar interests and varying personalities. The members are kept busy with the Fall hayride, Gatlinburg retreat, Valentine's Semiformal, Christmas party, Spring Banquet, devotionals, Spring Luau, quiz bowls, Jog-a-thon, and Jump Rope for Heart. Gamma Lambda is proud of the fact that they had five representatives on Homecoming Court this year. Many of their members were in Who's Who. Several were involved in ASA and they maintained full membership.

The purpose of Lambda Psi is growth—growth in the ability to work well with others in forming lifelong friendships and in the desire to be sisters. The club's hope is to grow in both service activities and in social functions. Since service is important for growth, the club is involved in several activities. Annual projects include sponsoring a child from the Santa House and working with Triangle House, a home for girls from troubled families. In the social aspect, Lambda Psi participates in a Christmas Banquet, Spring Banquet, Spring Picnic, Open and Closed Rushes, pledging, initiation, Bison Day, Homecoming, Singarama, and sports. In all these, members uphold the motto, "To receive much, you must give much."

The main objective of Psi Alpha is to use individual strengths, abilities, and talents to increase the unity and Christianity of the club. When initially founded, Psi Alpha was a club for women with a love for music. They believed that with each individual sister and her special talents they represented notes which when joined together formed a special symphony.

Psi Alpha takes part in such activities as Bison Day, intramurals, Quiz Bowl, and Singarama. Also, Psi Alpha takes part in inter-club activities as well as their own special functions: a semi-formal, formal, and Bahama Bash are held annually. At Homecoming, Psi Alpha cosponsors an alumni tea.

The main objectives of Sigma Iota Delta are to become better people and to know the people in the club better. The club was very successful in their participation with interclub and school sponsored contests and sporting events. Club projects included picnics, singing at nursing homes, and visiting children's homes.

The club members are easygoing, hard working, concerned, friendly, and unbiased young men.

Sigma Phi goals were to promote friendship, confidence and respect among women of Christian ideas and goals, and to encourage personal development in such areas as scholarship, leadership, character, service and social poise.

Sigma Phi participated in every social club function and most of the school-related activities. Some activities the club participated in were the Jog-a-Thon, football, volleyball, Santa's House, devotionals, horseback riding, Homecoming teas, Singarama, and Spring banquets.

The main objective of Tau Phi is to remain genuine and honest in whatever they do. They accept each member for what he stands for, but are always there to encourage and to show a sensitivity to everyone—in the club or not. The main project of the club is the Tau Phi and Friends Cowboy Show each fall. They also go every year to Youth Hobby Shop and conduct parties. Members are involved in all intramural sports, quiz and Bible bowls, Bison Day, Homecoming activities, Singarama, a yearly trip to Gatlinburg, a camping trip each spring, annual banquets, and sponsoring the Spring Golf Tournament. Tau Phi has also been honored with three of the six past ASA presidents.

Theta Tau was founded by a group of girls who wanted to be in a social club which put God first, school and others second, and themselves and club activities last. Members of Theta Tau have a wide variety of interests and majors. Personalities range from outgoing to shy which helps keep things in balance in activities. The club's main project is a secret pal system during the quarter that helps to encourage and uplift one another. Theta Tau is active in Bison Day, Singarama and in intramural sports like volleyball. Members have holiday parties, a trip to Gatlinburg, Tennessee and a formal banquet in the Spring.

The main objective of Zeta Nu is to provide Christian fellowship as well as promote a closeness among its members. They blend into a close knit group who enjoy each other's company but feel at ease to branch out as individuals. Members should display the following qualities: not on any probation, of excellent character, having a good attitude toward teachers, fellow students and the administration; and displaying cooperation and service to both the college and the club.

Members are involved in an abundant number of activities including ZN Night at the Movies, Rush Fair, Fall Retreat, devotionals, football, volleyball, Bison Day, Semi Formal, Fall Fallout, Hayride, Gatlinburg retreat, Jump Rope for Heart, Valentine party, Sigma Iota Delta/Zeta Nu skating party, basketball, alumni Homecoming Tea, Quiz Bowl, Bible Bowl, softball, Formal Banquet, Luau, Seniors' Picnic, Singarama, Mother/Daughter Luncheon, Gamma Lambda/Zeta Nu Slumber Party. As is evident, the achievement the club is proudest of is versatility.

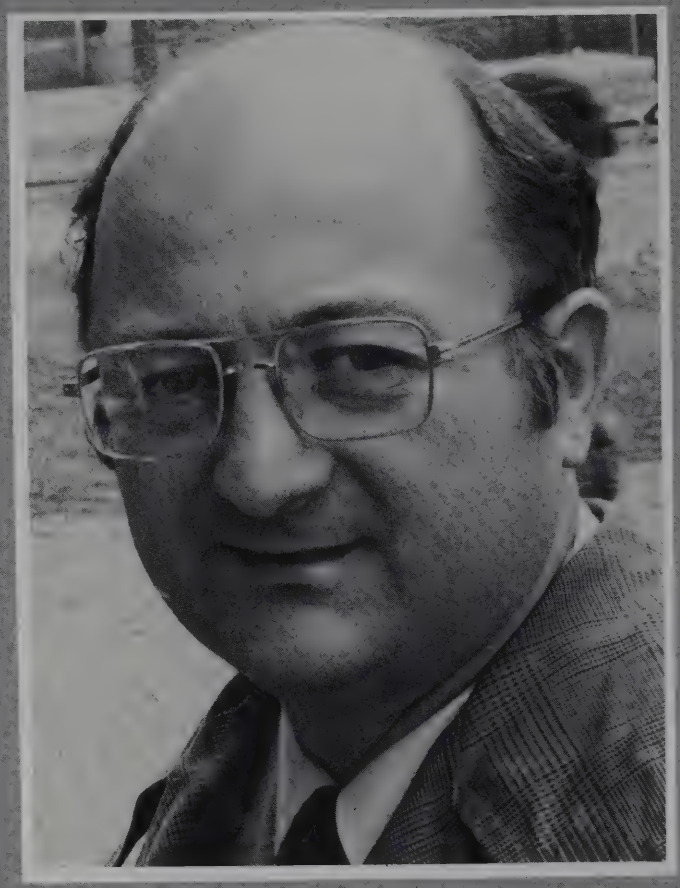
PEOPLE



Administration—
making the music possible, for good leadership is necessary for any successful endeavor.

Faculty—
strongly influencing the development of each song through instruction, guidance and example.

Staff—
providing the tempo for a college to thrive through their essential and effective services.

Students—
the many and varied melodies combining to form the chorus that is David Lipscomb College.

President Willard Collins

Lipscomb's Golden Decade

In October 1991, David Lipscomb College will celebrate its 100th anniversary! These years leading up to that occasion will be an exciting time to be at Lipscomb. We are happy that you are a part of this Golden Decade here on the campus!

There are several important goals we hope to accomplish during the next few years. May I share these priorities with you and may I encourage you to assist us in every way that you can—now and in the years ahead.

1. Keep David Lipscomb College Christian! This should be the #1 priority of each of us—always!
2. Keep Lipscomb strong academically. Students here have the very best teachers available, with 63% of our faculty holding the earned doctor's degree and each one a faithful Christian.
3. Balance the budget each year by raising the necessary unrestricted funds.
4. Complete negotiations on the Burton property, and thus add substantially to Lipscomb's endowment.
5. Complete much-needed facilities—Swang Center, library addition, etc.
6. Meet requirements for accreditation of masters program.
7. Maintain enrollment goals for all campus schools.

We are thankful that you have chosen to cast your lot with the family here at David Lipscomb College as you continue your education. We want to serve you in every area of your growth—academically, physically and spiritually—during your years here. When you join the 23,000+ alumni who have preceded you at Lipscomb, we trust you will want to assist us year by year as we strive to perpetuate this school for your children and all the generations to come!

In sincere appreciation,

Willard Collins

Instructors have shown impressive work and distinctive styles in many aspects of the art world.

Perhaps the most exciting aspects of this department are the impressive activities of the teachers. John Hutcheson, chairman of the department, for example, after guiding a tour to England, Scotland, and Wales brought slides of the architecture and cathedrals to show his class to aid in instruction. Hutcheson was planning another tour to Austria and Switzerland.

Dawn Whitelaw, another member of the department, participated in a national portrait show in Washington D.C. and had three portraits shown among the final one hundred paintings. The department is fortunate to have her as a teacher.

A third member that was active in all aspects is Ralph Thurman. Thurman has done some commercial design work for several new enterprises. His logos and design work can now be seen throughout the country.

Rudy Sanders is also an impressive member of the department. Sanders recently did all the photos for the new history of the battle of Franklin, "Five Tragic Hours." He is also active in wedding photography and photography for student publications, as well as teaching.

Robert Nipp, an award-winning designer along with teaching, is president of Nova, a commercial art firm. He is well known for his wild life illustrations and animated animal designs. Still, Nipp says his main objective is to train future artists and designers.

Finally, because of the ability of Jeanne Woodson, a new minor in interior design was made available. Woodson teaches courses in housing and interior design in conjunction with home economics courses. A new course in color theory and design was planned for the future.

BIBLE

The Department of Bible had begun its most exciting project yet!

The Department of Bible established the new graduate program under the direction of Dr. William Woodson. The department is supported by fourteen full-time faculty with nearly twenty additional part-time and occasional teachers, who have given strong assistance in the Bible curriculum. One new addition to the department was Dr. Mike Moss who has experience in preaching and teaching in Louisville, Kentucky. Clyde Miller added further prestige to the department by writing his commentary on I and II Kings, which was published by Sweet Publishing Company.

Three principal areas are the responsibility of the Bible faculty: 1) Courses that satisfy the "daily Bible requirement," 2) Courses that are required of all students in the "general education" program, and 3) required and elective courses for Bible majors, who may choose among five areas of emphasis-Biblical languages, missions, preaching, religious education, and youth ministry.

. . . a vital part of the liberal arts program.

The Department of Biology is maintaining its place as a vital part of the liberal arts program. Many things were accomplished that increased the productivity of the department.

For example, the departmental faculty revised the second edition of Laboratory Exercises in General Biology—the manual used in fundamentals class—which was published by Kendall-Hunt.

Another improvement was the addition of a micro-video system. This system films field experiences and laboratory experiments through a microscope. By using the micro-video system, the department is now able to preserve unusual and important events that occur in both situations.

There was one new addition to the faculty. Norman Fox is now contributing his knowledge to that of the other members of the department. Because of the instruction of these members and the increasing interest in biology, there has been a steady increase in this department's enrollment.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

When asked how Lipscomb's program compares with other schools, Swang gave a proud smile, a thumbs up sign, and said, "Very good reputation, up at the top."

The Department of Business Administration is on the move! With the Swang Center's opening, a rising number of students enrolled in business administration majors can be accommodated. According to Axel Swang, chairman of the department, there is a record number of courses offered by the department. The department has a very updated curriculum and is striving to continue to satisfy student needs. Swang stated, "Our accounting graduates are having very good success with the Certified Public Accounting exam." There is also a new marketing major with George Boulware as supervisor. This new major is proving to be very popular among Lipscomb students.

The teachers in the department are extremely qualified. John Crawford has been at the University of Alabama working on his Ph.D. in marketing. Gerald Fulks has been working on a Ph.D. in management at Middle Tennessee State University. A new member of the department, Randy Steger, has been working on his D.B.A. in marketing.

CHEMISTRY

Offering courses designed for liberal arts majors, pre-professional students, and professional chemistry majors, the department was honored by being approved by the Committee on Professional Education of the American Chemical Society. Instructors in the department are experienced and make a very strong effort to give each student individual attention, both in lecture work and in laboratory work. They also provide academic counseling to help students formulate plans for the future.

Looking to the future, a great deal of effort was being put forth to improve the general chemistry curriculum. Computer instruction, pre-testing, and extra study labs were added to the curriculum. The department also has long-range plans for the acquisition of equipment to keep offerings abreast of current technology. For example, a new NMR (Nuclear Magnetic Resonance) Spectrometer was added to the department and plans were made for further improvements.

The department was awarded an honor that only 20% of other colleges and universities share.

EDUCATION

"Because the Department of Education works with every other department at Lipscomb in preparing their teachers, whatever they do influences the entire school."

That statement was made by the chairman of the department, Thomas Whitfield, and he had good reason to speak. The well-trained faculty, led by him, worked diligently to properly educate our future educators.

The department is accredited by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education and is highly respected in the state. Being located in Metro Nashville puts Lipscomb at an advantage because there are several student teaching opportunities here.

This year, two professors in the department, Joyce Rucker and James Costello, were made sponsors of the STEA, a campus academic club for teaching majors. Thomas Whitfield was appointed to another term on the Tennessee State Advisory Council on Teacher Education. He has served on this council since the early 1960's.

Some improvements in the department include the addition of a course on classroom management, the completed remodeling of the methods laboratory, and the educational methods requirement of a unit dealing with the use of microcomputers in education.

. . . an ELF in the Department of English

The main theme in the department was progress. Many of the members were earning their doctorates. Earl Lomax, for example, earned a doctorate from the University of Missouri, Steve Prewitt was working on a doctorate at Vanderbilt University, and Wayne Garrett was working on a doctoral dissertation at Knoxville. Steve Prewitt had also been studying English Literature in Ireland.

Progress was also made with the addition of a new service called ELF, which stands for English Lab Free. This lab provided help to students who were having trouble in various areas. Also, as a result of careers that require one to be a master of the language, the number of students minoring in English increased greatly.

Sue Berry, chairman of the department, made a statement concerning yet another progressive step. "We are proud of our connections with professional organizations." She made this statement as a result of Earl Lomax holding an office in the Nashville English Teachers Association and Berry's serving as President of the Tennessee College English Association. There is no question that everything accomplished by the Department of English further developed its main theme.

HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The Department of Health and Physical Education provides something for everyone either in the form of basic requirements or in intramural activity.

Physical education seems to be an increasingly popular thing. One of the most popular classes is the jogging class, even though it does start at 6:30 a.m. There was also increasing interest in the intramural program according to Duane Slaughter, chairman of the department. The department hopes other students will get involved in this program in the future.

A new program offered in the department was a minor in coaching. Dr. Slaughter says this was a great program for all teaching majors since so many teachers have to coach, particularly in high school.

Improvements in faculty were also made. Mike Roller, Assistant Dean of Students, was the new assistant basketball coach along with Coach Meyer, and Lynn Griffith planned to get his Ph.D. in the near future, making it a progressive year for the department.

HISTORY AND POLITICAL SCIENCE

Good things are happening in the department. With Dr. Robert Hooper overseeing, it is no surprise. There are over 100 majors in history and political science this year. To aid in teaching, Mr. Craig Bledsoe ended his leave of absence.

Moreover, two books were released by members of the department. Dr. Foy released For You the War Is Over—American Prisoners of War In Germany. Dr. McDonough released Five Tragic Hours: The Battle of Franklin.

Overall, the Department of History and Political Science is not living in the past but marching on in the present.

The department has been substantially strengthened by the addition of John Conger, who comes with a strong background in family studies. His research for the Ph.D. deals with pre-dual career couples, those planning to marry and continue working. His background was in early childhood education and family problems concerning how work affects the family and the family's members. He has a strong emphasis in business management and consumer affairs. Mr. Conger previously taught at Eastfield College in Dallas, Texas, and Oregon State University.

The department has added a new program in food management in conjunction with the Department of Business Administration. This program is in high demand at the present and both departments expect a good enrollment.

The Home Economics students have been busy raising money through food sales before Christmas and preparing for the annual spring fashion show.

A new minor in interior design has been added. Mrs. Jeanne Woodson, a practicing interior designer, teaches courses in housing and interior design which mesh with courses previously taught for this needed minor.

The Department of Home Economics gets its first male teacher!

LIBRARY

The library is expanding in more ways than one.

The major concern of the library involved expansion. Plans were being made for an extension that was desperately needed. The library was slowly becoming more and more congested and with the addition of the graduate program in Bible, the Biblical section had to be increased drastically. The library already contained almost 150,000 volumes in a building constructed to hold only 100,000, so this increase added to the problem. Thus expansion plans were a must.

Along with trying to provide better facilities for the students, the library offered a new program in term paper counseling. This program enabled students to receive individual help with their research papers. In essence, the library's main aim was the advancement of the student.

MATHEMATICS

Dr. Kerce said, "The graduates are better than average, but it would be immodest to publish that!"

The David Lipscomb College Department of Mathematics plays a very important role here at the college.

In the fall of 1983 there were 730 students enrolled in the department. According to Dr. Kerce, the chairman of the department, the Mathematics program has been experiencing a very slow, but steady increase over the past few years. Much of the increase is due to the outstanding faculty.

In the summer of 1983, Mark Miller received his Doctor of Arts and rejoined the faculty last fall. Also in the summer of 1983, John Holland was very busy due to the research grant he received.

According to Kerce, the performance of Lipscomb graduates compares very favorably with those of other schools both in graduate work and in the business world.

MODERN LANGUAGES

Sara Whitten, chairman of the department, said that the main goal of the department was to get more students interested in taking languages because it broadens a student's outlook on life and also aids in getting jobs in many different fields.

The big project of the department was to improve the language lab facilities by changing the reel to reel tape recordings to cassette tapes. They installed six working booths in the lab and plan to add six more booths each year.

Two teachers have traveled in Europe recently. Whitten attended a meeting of the American Association of Teachers of French in Lille, France. She also traveled to several cities in Normandy and in England. Associate Professor Gladys Gooch also went to Spain and was accompanied by two students.

Charles McVey, an instructor in modern languages, taught summer school at Lipscomb and is working on his dissertation in German.

"Nothing is more important for the goal of peace and understanding in the world today than the knowledge of different languages and cultures." —Sara Whitten

Nowhere on campus was music studied, practiced, and loved more than within the department. The dedication of faculty and students alike made the year one of growth and activity.

The number of Lipscomb students enrolled in music classes increased in '83-'84. Many students transferred to study here, and the freshman enrollment was the highest in the department's history. In addition to the majors and minors, the entire student body had the opportunity to benefit from the work of the department.

Four faculty members, Larry Griffith, Steve Rhodes, Jerome Reed, and Marcia Hughes were on their way to earning their doctorates, bringing the total in the department to eight. Marion Cawood received a grant to spend the summer in Spain, increasing her performance repertoire, and in preparation she spent the year studying Spanish. James Jackson, chairman of the department, wrote and published a book, Church Music Handbook: A Cappella Singing, to be used by ministers, song leaders, and in congregational workshops.

The department had some important additions. A minor in church music was offered for the first time, and in accordance with this, a course in the history of church music was added. Another new class, an introduction to music appreciation, was offered.

The Department of Music had one of its strongest faculties ever!

Bennett, M.S.T.; Perry Moore, B.S., Computer Systems Manager.

Training students for careers in a high-tech world.

Majors in computer science, physics, engineering science, as well as pre-engineering, are offered by the Department of Physics and Engineering Science. The number of computer science majors is increasing while the number of physics and engineering majors remains fairly constant.

Progress continued in relation to faculty, also. Dr. Fletcher D. Srygley, the chairman of the department, attended a meeting of the American Association of Physics Teachers in Memphis, Mr. Bennett and Dr. Hood also attended a meeting dealing with computers at Fall Creek Falls. Dr. Srygley was planning to work on a special project at Vanderbilt University. Due to the department's expansion, Jerry Collins and Frank Kyle are both now teaching courses part-time in the department. Also, graduates of the department have given over $2,000 for a special equipment fund.

Dr. Srygley said that in the future the department hopes to become more aware of the businesses hiring people in the areas of physics, engineering, and computer science in order to better assist their graduates in finding employment.

PSYCHOLOGY

. . . a department of service.

The Department of Psychology experienced an increase in the number of students interested in this field. The department was in the process of some changes, but the enrollment had not been affected. Naturally, the department is growing with the increased interest in today's world.

Whether the student ends his formal education with a bachelor's degree or goes on to graduate school, the department's aim is to give each student the background into psychology's practical uses. The department prefers to be considered a department of service to its students and colleagues.

SOCIOLOGY AND SOCIAL WORK

. . . providing a background of human relations for other major areas.

The teachers in the Department of Sociology and Social Work are working very hard. Two new faculty members helping in the department are John Conger, from home economics, and Dr. Paul Turner, from psychology. The two sociologists in the department are Dr. Long and Dr. Todd. The social work area teachers in this department are Mrs. Bowman and Mr. Creech. Dr. Todd is in the process of writing a research methods manual. He is also involved in taking a computer science course to help the department.

The Sociology and Social Work department is divided into three areas: the area of general sociology, the sociology teaching major area, and the social work program. Enrollment in all areas is increasing. Minors are also increasing because sociology is helpful for background in human relations for other major areas.

SPEECH COMMUNICATION

Lipscomb has one of the strongest undergraduate programs in speech in the nation.

Students had the chance to participate in an improved and enriched Department of Speech Communication this year. Several trips have been taken by the professors to enhance their teaching. Dr. Carroll Ellis (department chairman) and Dr. Paul Prill attended the National Religious Broadcasters Convention. Dr. Ellis also attended the National Speech Convention. Mr. Henry (Buddy) Arnold took a theater trip to New York City and went to the National Storytellers gathering in Jonesboro, Tennessee. Dr. Bill Proctor made a trip to Los Angeles, California to attend a seminar on television, and Dr. Marlin Connelly took a trip to Israel.

The department has also added two new classes in broadcasting to the curriculum, and they have added on-campus facilities for television.

Over the last 30 years, at least 60 DLC graduates have gone on to earn their Ph.D. in speech communications, some of whom have become deans, department chairmen, and even one university president. These are a few examples of the department's products. Dr. Ellis describes the relationship among the teachers in the department as "harmonious."

Continuing Biblical Studies

The introduction of a new graduate program in Bible studies far exceeded expectations. William Woodson, director of graduate Bible studies, said the program was well received, and he seemed to have enrollment records to back his statement. Even though the administration had estimated a hopeful 25 students for the first year, enrollment proved to be a "pleasing" 39 students. These students met the mental challenge of a curriculum designed to encourage learning and spirituality.

The students seemed to be very pleased with the curriculum as were administrators. President Collins and Vice President for Academic Affairs Earl Dennis were ardent supporters, and many others concurred with them to compliment the outstanding beginning of this program. Woodson said that the whole program proved to be an excellent lesson in the spirit of cooperation.

Halloween is a waste
for this Beautiful
Face!

Medley: 1. A piece of music combining airs or passages from various sources. 2. A mixture, especially of heterogenous elements. 3. A jumble.

Chapel is a daily reminder of the most important element in our lives . . . showing love for Christ.

Organizations like Circle K make teaching and worshiping with others a vital part of their service.

Medley: Spiritual Life

The inspiration and fun that result from the fellowship with friends make club devotionals popular on campus. Pictured here are Zeta Nu and Tau Phi.

There's something special about Tuesday nights at 10 o'clock when students gather in a circle on Bison Square to raise their voices to God in beautiful song.

"Disaster and Recovery"

Disaster and recovery marked the events that unfolded themselves on the international and domestic scenes in 1983-84.

With the recession of 1982 far behind him, President Reagan turned the resources and the attentions of his administration towards dealing with problems of world-wide dimensions; sometimes with success and sometimes with failure, but never without controversy.

In the Middle East, the United States pinned its hopes of stabilizing that region on a contingent of 1200 Marines who were deployed to Beirut in September, 1982. Throughout 1983 and into 1984, the Marines braved gunfire from the various factions involved in the latest Lebanese civil war in an attempt to "keep the peace" and to save the American-backed government of President Amin Gemayel. By March, it was apparent to all of the parties involved that the effort was doomed to failure. Faced with opposition from all sides in their bunkers at the airport at Beirut, by the withdrawal of the other members of the multi-national force, and with a lack of support from the American Congress, the Marines were pulled out. They left behind an unresolved conflict and little remaining support for a quick solution. A total of 265 Marines died in the operation, 241 of whom were killed when a suicide truck-bomb attack destroyed the Marine barracks on October 23, 1983.

While the Marines were holding the fort in Beirut, Reagan was flexing American military muscle in the Caribbean. Two days after the bomb disaster, U.S. forces in concert with the armed forces of 6 Caribbean nations launched an invasion of the tiny island of Grenada in order to restore order there following a coup led by army officers that overthrew the Marxist leader Maurice Bishop. The move by the U.S. demonstrated to the world that America still considered itself to be responsible for the security of this hemisphere and gave encouragement to the Central American nation of El Salvador, a U.S. ally that is fighting for life against Nicaraguan-backed guerillas. American aid and support continues to back up the El Salvadoran efforts to fight insurgency in a nation that is slowly dragging its feet toward human rights, reforms, and a working democracy. The serious nature of the Central American problem was driven home in January when a commission headed by former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger determined that America will have to spend a further $8 billion over the next five years in order to keep Central America from falling to the guerilla movement there. Neither side in the conflict seems ready to adopt the crucial notion of "compromise."

U.S.-Soviet relations hit a new low with the start of deployment of American Pershing II and cruise missiles in Western Europe. The Russian response: a walk-out from the arms control talks in Geneva on November 4. An even greater disaster had occured two months prior, however, when a Soviet interceptor shot down a South Korean Boeing-747 passenger plane that had strayed into Russian airspace over Sakhalin Island; 269 passengers died in the September 1 tragedy, and condemnation for the Soviet attack came quickly from Washington and from the U.N. Hopes were raised that relations could be improved when Soviet leader Yuri Andropov died of kidney disease in February, but as the new leader, Konstantin Chernenko consolidated his power in the Kremlin, it soon became apparent that there would be no quick return to detente based solely on the Russian change of command.

On the domestic front, Congress rolled up its sleeves to deal with a predicted deficit in federal spending of $184 billion, an issue that will play a crucial role in the 1984 Presidential election. The interest of American voters turned to the race for the Democratic nomination for president. By March, the field of eight contenders had narrowed to three men. The early frontrunner, former Vice President Walter Mondale, was faced early on in the primary process by a hard-charging Sen. Gary Hart of Colorado. As he and Mondale square off toward the July convention in San Francisco, they will be followed by Rev. Jesse Jackson, the first black candidate for president to be taken seriously. Jackson won a great deal of media attention when he traveled to Damascus to secure the release of captured Navy flier Lt. Robert Goodman from the Syrians. Jackson, Hart, and Mondale will all have a say in who will get the nomination at their convention; President Reagan secured his nomination by a simple announcement to run in January; he will be unopposed as the 1984 GOP candidate.

America will play host to the world once again at the 1984 World Exposition in New Orleans and at the Summer Olympic Games at Los Angeles. During the Winter Olympics at Sarajevo, Yugoslavia in February, the U.S. won few medals, but Americans won new heroes as the family-teams of Mahre and Carruthers placed in the men's downhill skiing events and pairs figure-skating respectively. In professional sports, the Super Bowl title was taken away from the Washington Redskins by the Los Angeles Raiders, the Baltimore Orioles surprised an aging Philadelphia Phillies team in baseball's World Series, another Philadelphia team, the 76'ers, won the 1983 NBA Championship, and in hockey, the New York Islanders skated away with their fourth-straight Stanley Cup.

It was typically a year of pride and a year of disappointment for Americans, but also a year of new understandings about the role we play in the world in which we live.

FUN IN THE PARK
By Jon Hutson

Lunch hour—downtown
Execs writing cheques for a bite of the Apple
Wall Street on parade past Central Park where sells
a hotdog vendor
Grey suits and blue ties pay no heed

Suddenly
The vendor's hand slips and lets fall a coin plink
Time stops
Motion ceases but for the quarter, rolling along a path
All eyes turn toward the sound

The businessmen quiver, then turn away unconcerned (one even whistles)
Whir! all turn as if on signal and charge the silver sliver

Groping, shoving, kicking,
(maybe even biting) in vain
The coin, all twenty-five cents unchequed rolls along the rim of Wall Street comes to a grating, pauses hesitates
and jumps into the sewer

Executives sit down and cry
The hotdog vendor roars with laughter

TOO YOUNG TO UNDERSTAND
By Stephanie Rust

Once before dawn the child opened her eyes and the room was crowded with shadows; they leaned against the walls and were piled up in the corners in varied shades of gray and black. She watched drowsily as a square of light flashed against her wall and slid around to seep out the open window; she wondered whether that was Daddy home from Chattanooga, but she heard the car motor peak and then wane as it climbed away down the hill into the night. But it wouldn't have been him anyway. She closed her eyes again to wait for morning.

It was a golden morning, when the sky sparkled with new sunshine and the leaves of the trees through Lucy's window dripped sparkles of sunshine and dappled the yard beneath. The quilts felt heavy and warm around her legs and she wiggled to sit up. She yawned and rubbed her eyes and sniffed the air; it smelled like bacon. Her cheek and a patch on her forehead were rosy where she had lain against the pillow, and printed with lines where the strands of her hair had been.

From out of her window she saw the morning, all fresh and bright from the rain, and she scooted around backwards in her bed to sit up on her pillows and, like a gopher peeking out of a gopher hole, to see out her window whether the rain had filled the ditch and left gray puddles in the driveway. She lifted a dainty, dimpled hand to press against the screen and felt its cool wire squares under her palm. The screen made a popping sound when she pressed. There were no puddles.

She leaned on the sill and with her chin upon her hands she smelled the old way that the wood of the window sill smelled and that smell was like banjo music to Lucy. It was the smell she had breathed in all those times while, late in the night with the crickets singing and the moon glowing, she had leaned here on her windowsill to listen to the sound of banjo music floating back from the porch where Daddy would sit sometimes in the dark with his old banjo. Lucy had loved hearing her Daddy's music in the night. Sometimes she used to climb softly out of bed and tiptoe past Ben's room and past the kitchen and out through the screen door onto the porch, and she'd sit down beside him on the edge of the porch and he'd play "Boil 'Em Cabbage Down" and "Old Joe Clark." And he'd get to talking, soft and slow in the night, and tell her stories of growing up out at Shady Grove. And he'd promise her a ride on his motorcycle sometime; sometime he'd take her out to see Shady Grove and Carter's Gap and the schoolhouse. Then she'd yawn, but only because she couldn't help it, and he'd pick her up and carry her back to bed and tuck her in. And sometimes before she fell asleep, she'd hear the banjo music float in again.

She thought how she missed him. She couldn't believe he could just be not anywhere.

There came a knock at the kitchen door and Lucy heard ladies' high, cheery voices and her mama's quiet, polite voice. Reaching her feet down onto the wood of the floor, Lucy slid out of the quilts and stood up and stretched her arms up and straightened her back up to reach her hands all the way up as far as they could go and she stretched and yawned out loud. She wanted to go to the kitchen and see what the neighbor-ladies had brought; she guessed it was another meatloaf but she crossed her fingers and wished for cookies. She went out.

As she came around the corner and stepped into the kitchen the neighbor-ladies were talking. One was saying, ". . . just really too young to understand what's happened," and the other was nodding and saying, "Really it's a blessing, isn't it?" Soon they were gone. It was meatloaf.

After breakfast Lucy went outside to play. The brown boards creaked and sagged under her bare feet as she crossed the front porch towards the steps. She stopped near the raggedy edge of the porch just by three cement steps and bent her head to look at the boards beneath her toes. She inched nearer the end of the porch-boards so that her toes could curl down around the ends of them and hold on like monkeys' toes. She thought her toes were the color of the beach and the boards were the color of driftwood or wet sand. A breeze touched her hair and made her yellow dress dance about and tickle her legs. She smiled to her toes. She liked the breeze. She jumped off the porch.

The ground was soft and damp and she could feel the underneath-sides of her feet turning brown. She pressed all ten toes and both heels down into the damp yard and then she hopped onto the cool white steps and tried to stand there hard in one spot. She counted to fifteen and then jumped back off the steps and stooped with both hands on her knees to look at the prints her feet had made, mud-brown on stone-white. Her pinky-toes hadn't shown up.

She decided to go and look for Alvie. Alvie was Daddy's old beagle hound and he was her good friend. She called his name and walked around the side of the house, but he didn't come running out from behind the well or out from under the house. Alvie hadn't been around lately. She guessed he might be missing Daddy and might be out trying to find him. Poor old Alvie. He just didn't understand.

The honey bees were out and Lucy watched the ground in front of her while she walked, so that she wouldn't step on a clover and get stung. She walked around, watching the ground, all around the edge of the yard, from stump to tree to tree to flower bush. It wasn't much fun. She had thought it would be great fun to have a day out of school to play while all the others had to be inside doing lessons. She had thought she might have fun, stamp puddles and build stick-villages and run with Alvie. But there weren't any puddles and Alvie wasn't around and the stick-houses didn't sound like much fun anymore. She wished Daddy could be here to lift her up into the tree. Her face grew solemn and she watched the ground. She decided she might rather go inside for a little while with Mama.

The ground was damp and her feet left wet little prints on the sidewalk, but the prints faded away as she walked up the white steps onto the old front porch. Lucy sighed as she opened the screen door and walked into the front room. And then as she looked up she saw Daddy's old banjo there where he used to prop it up in the corner, and her face wrinkled all up, and a sob quietly stole from her throat, and she began to cry.

THE ALARM CLOCK WORLD
By Jane Stubblefield

Sometimes I regret
This Alarm Clock World
Of towering concrete monsters
With glowing eyes
And carnivorous mouths
That devour mankind
And spit them out again.

These demon skyscrapers hide stars and sunsets
While ominous shadowy smog hovers
Like a vulture
Over a phalanx of angry fences armed
With jabbing barbs
Of cold iron.

Meanwhile—
Cardboard people embued with selfish
Ambition
Stare with sightless orbs
Rush here, there
Nowhere—
To pursue purposeless earthly treasures.

Faintly I recall
An awed child
Eyes widening with wonder
At the cascading plunge of a waterfall,
Dewdrops clinging to a spiderweb,
The texture of a captive butterfly
And the crumbling of bark.
A forgotten, simple, natural world
Of fleeting falling stars,
Inner reflections of quartz and amethyst,
The rarity of four-leafed clovers,
The hug of a loved one,
The complexity of anthills.

Sometimes I regret
This Alarm Clock World
Where windows are shut,
Eyes are shut,
Minds are shut.
It seems to me
Only a child can see.

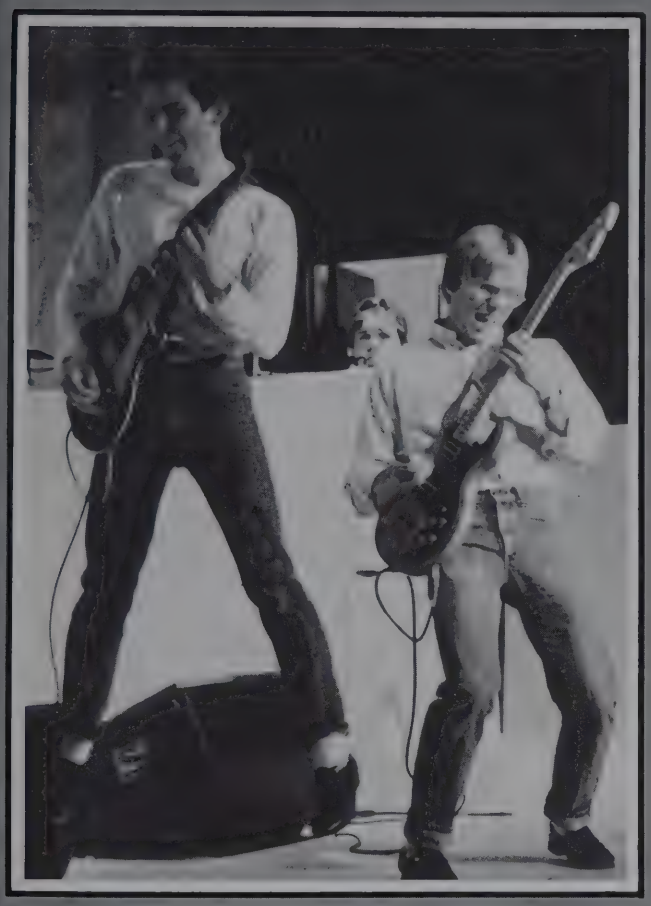
Make Your Own Music
Sing Your Own Song
And Soon The Whole World
Will Be Singing Along



"Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord."

—Colossians 2:16

Music can be heard everywhere: uplifting us in our worship, entertaining us during campus events, and making our everyday routines more enjoyable.
Here at David Lipscomb College, we have ample opportunity to be ourselves, to "make our own music," but even more important is our hope that the positive influence of our Christian lives will encourage the world to "sing along" with us.
